Harbor Creek, Pennsylvania

Moments of Contemplation . . .

Lost in the depths of thought

With mental activity at a peak;

Or moodily daydreaming,

When concentration is blurred

By reflections of lighter times.

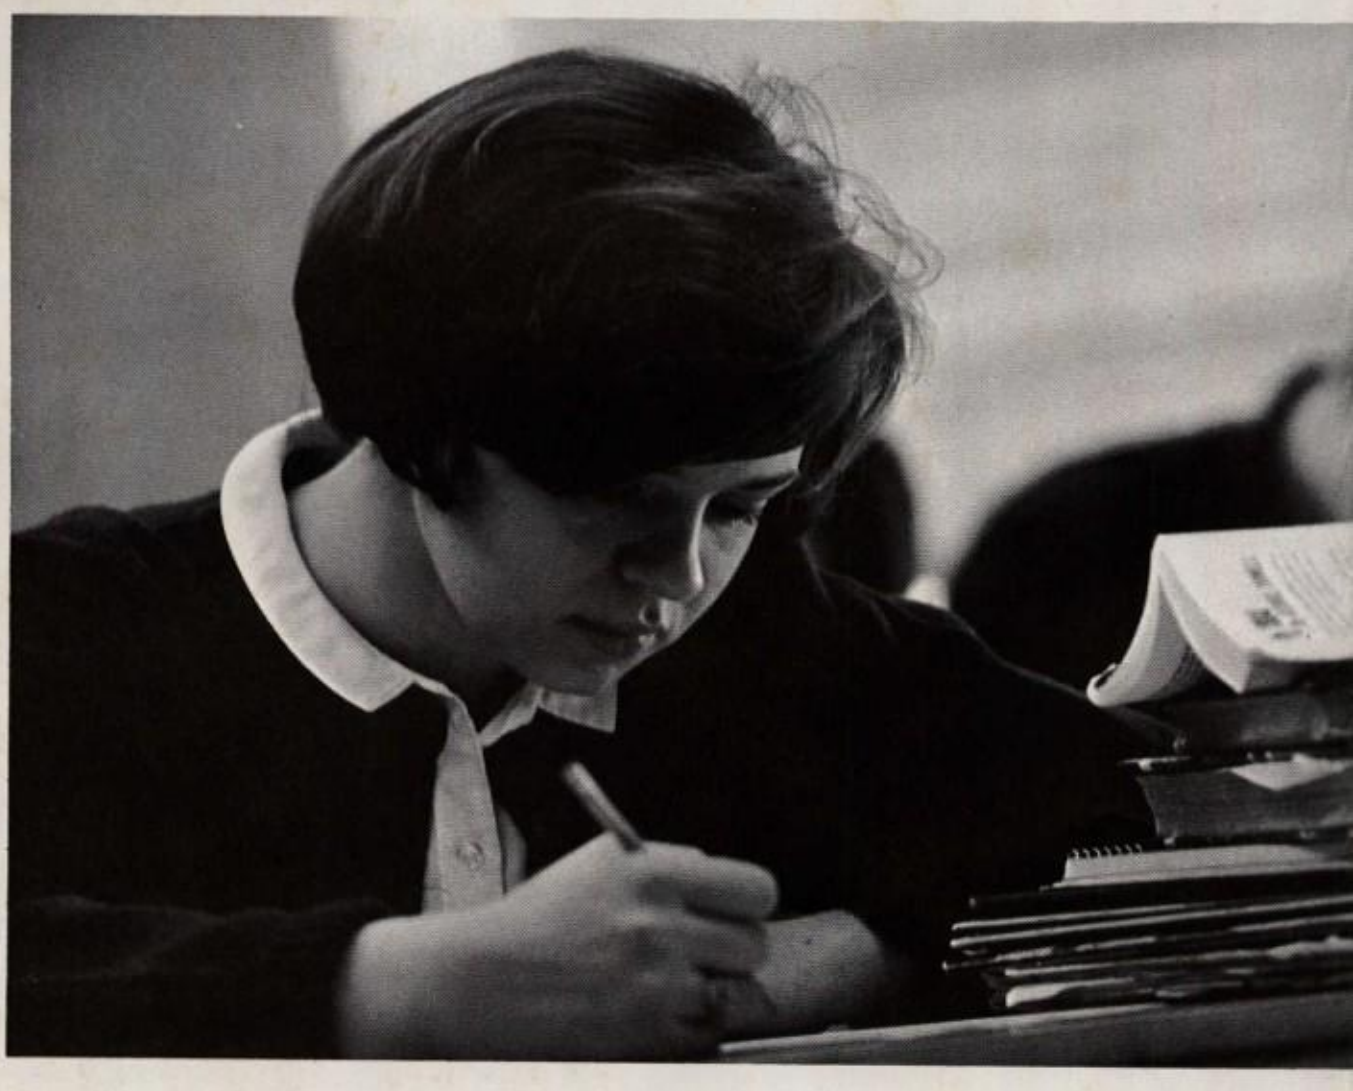
These are the moments that,

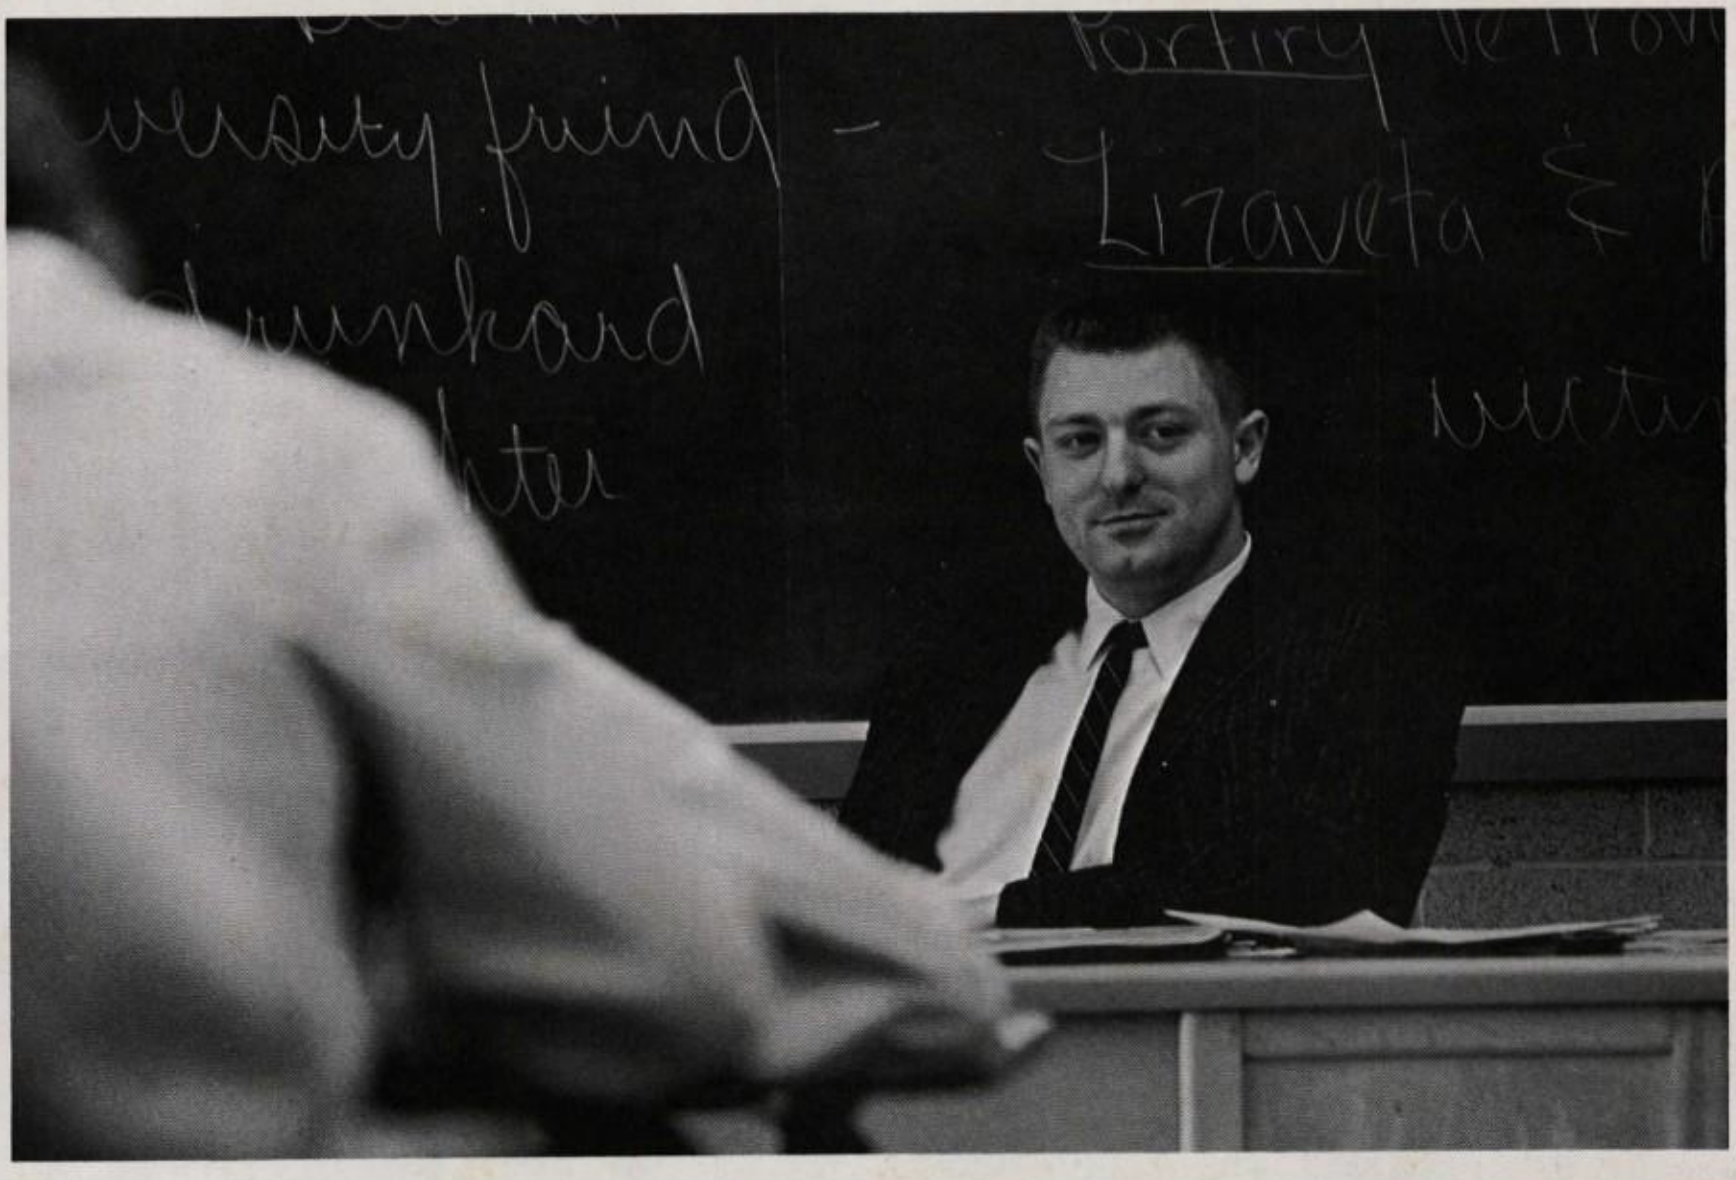
When spent wisely,

Bring feelings of accomplishment,

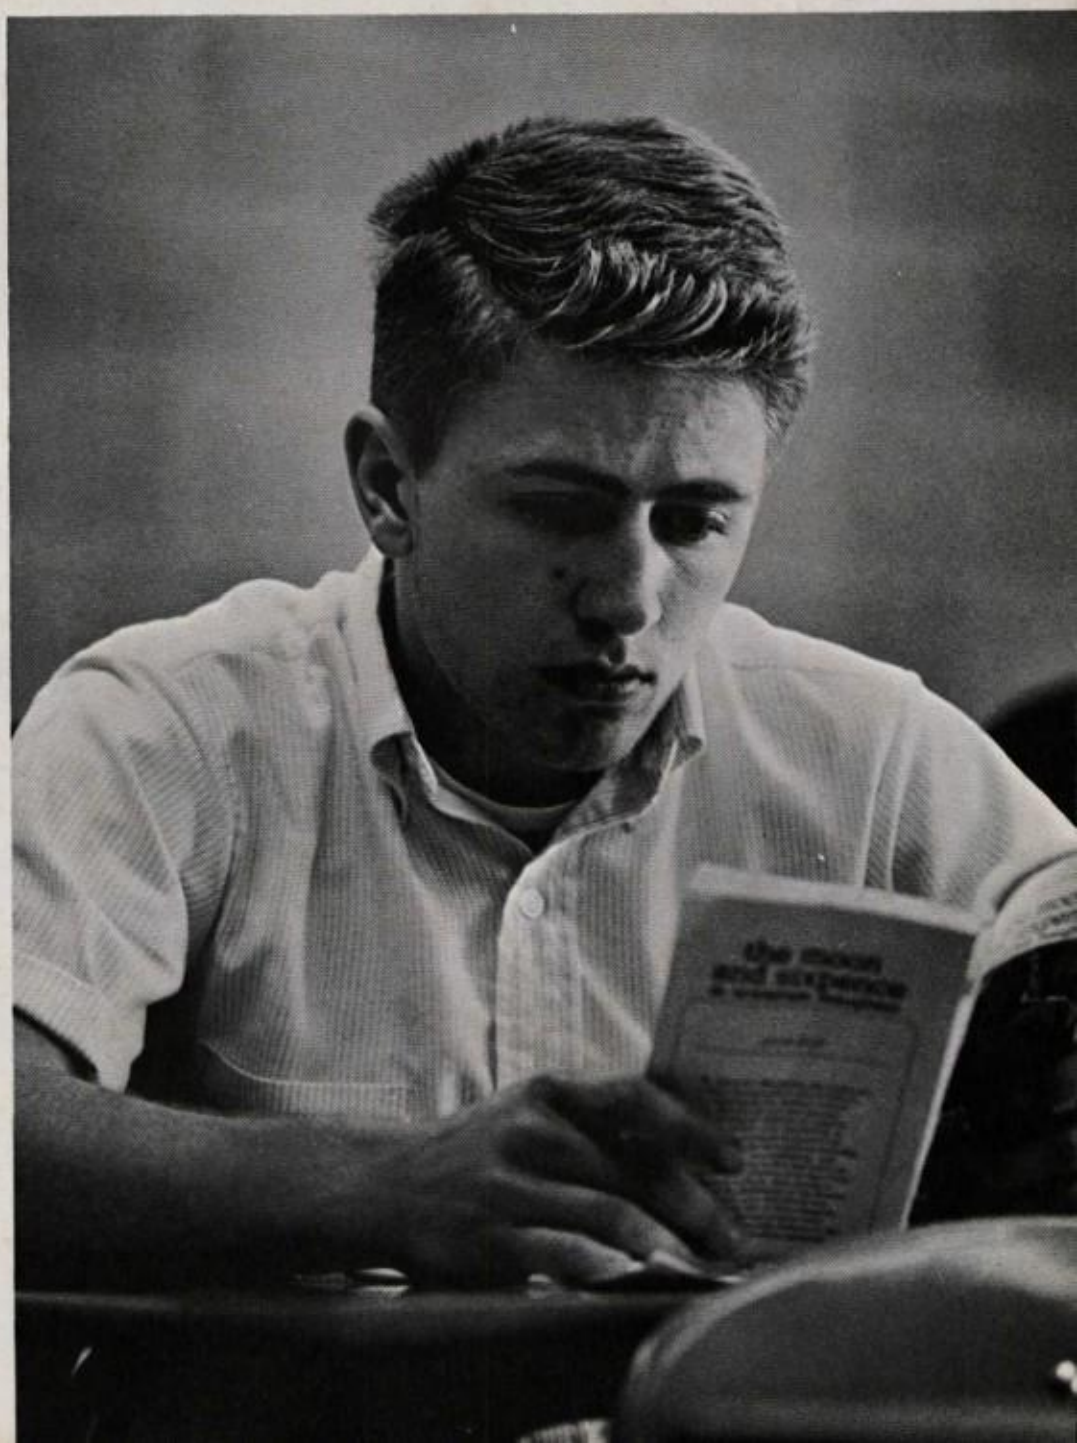
Relief, or just contented happiness

For being in school.





Lizaveta



Moments of Deliberation . . .

Hope and inspiration tower as one looks toward

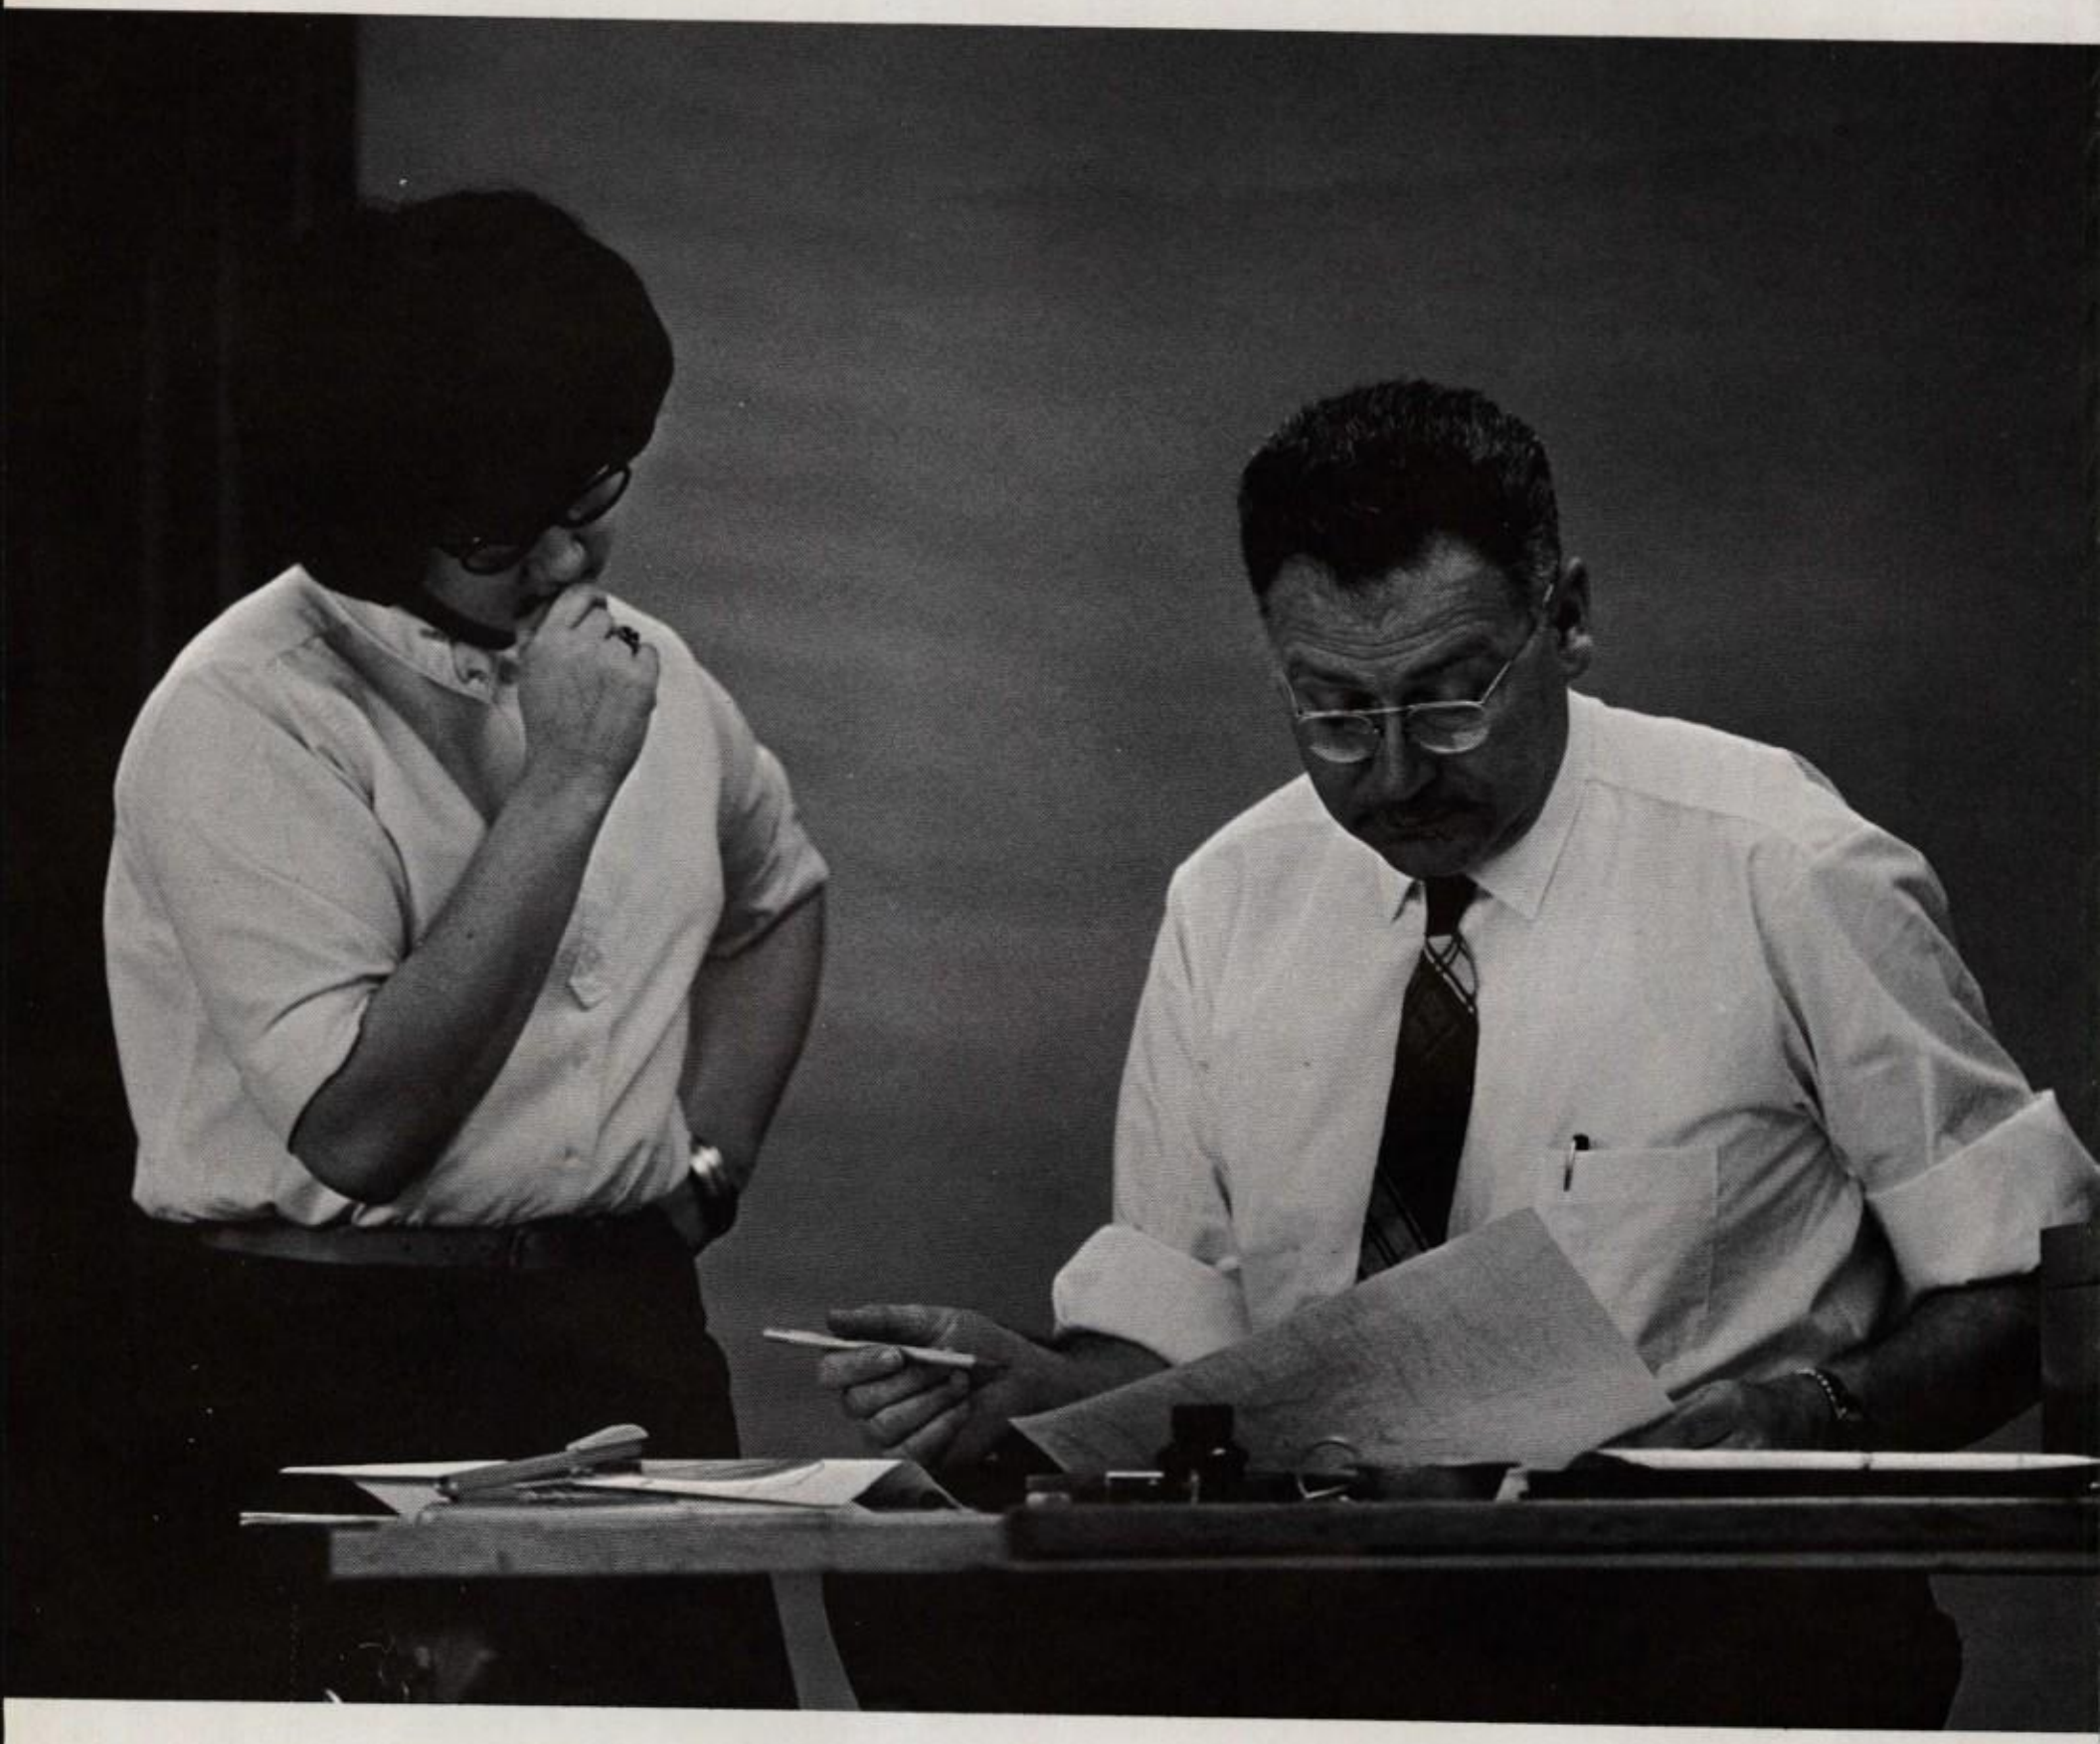
The possibilities of the future.

Moments spent

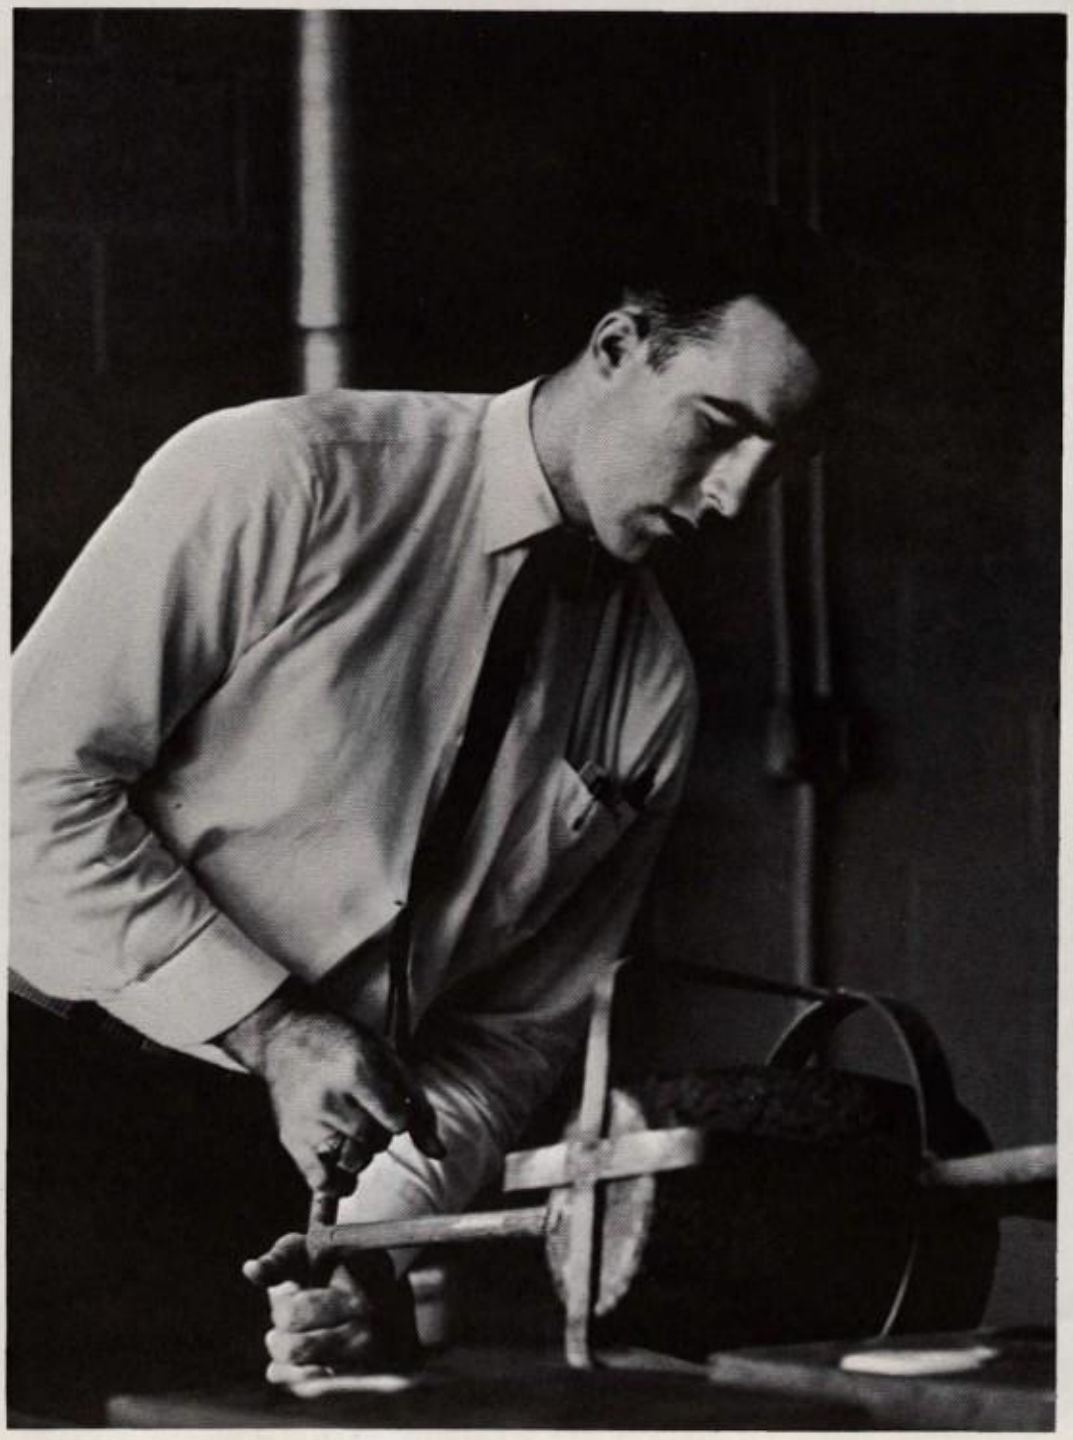
Visualizing aims,

Considering the practicality of one's dreams

Are prerequisites to their fulfillment.



SINGER



Moments of Demonstration . . .

The gesture of a hand

Supported by verbal explanation;

The simplest form of teaching.

Showing allows another to Understand and participate,

Thus knowledge is transmitted.

Moments of Application . . .

A reward of learning is being able to

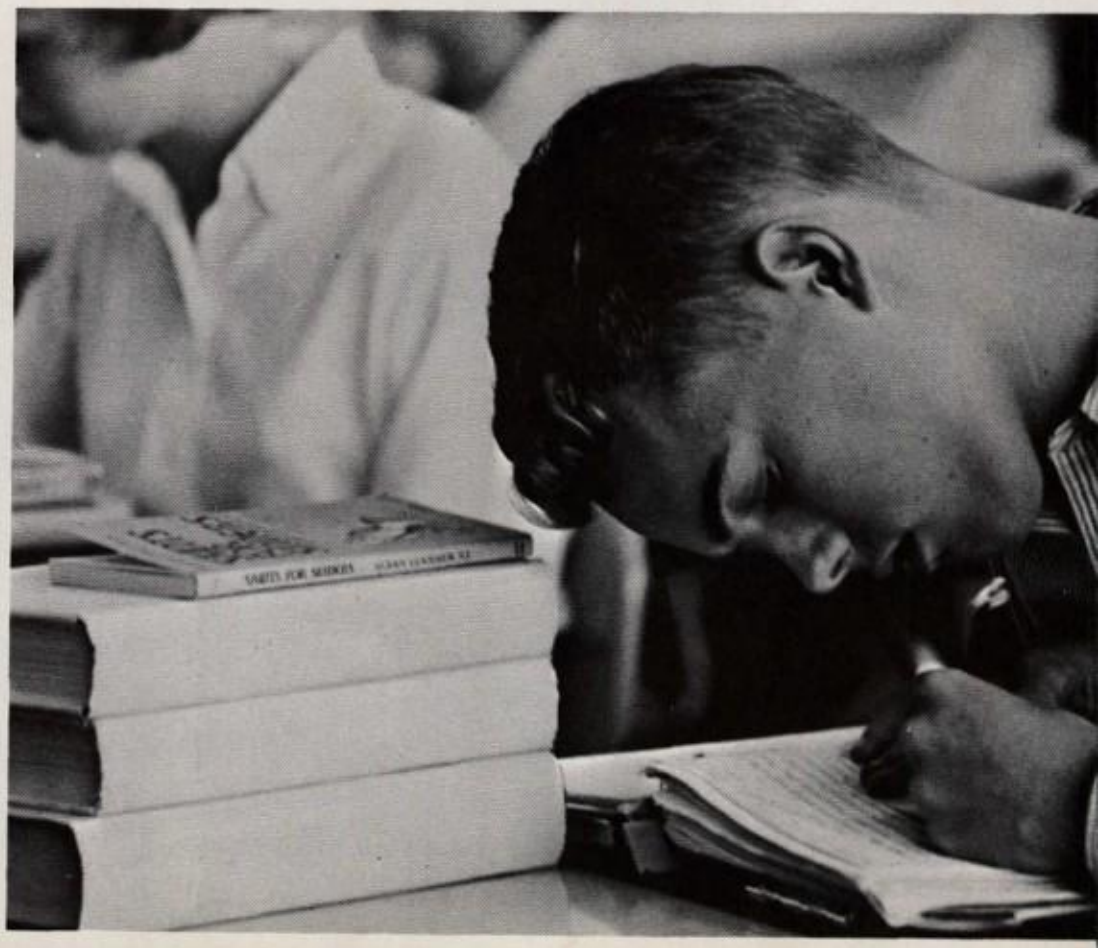
Efficiently produce something tangible;

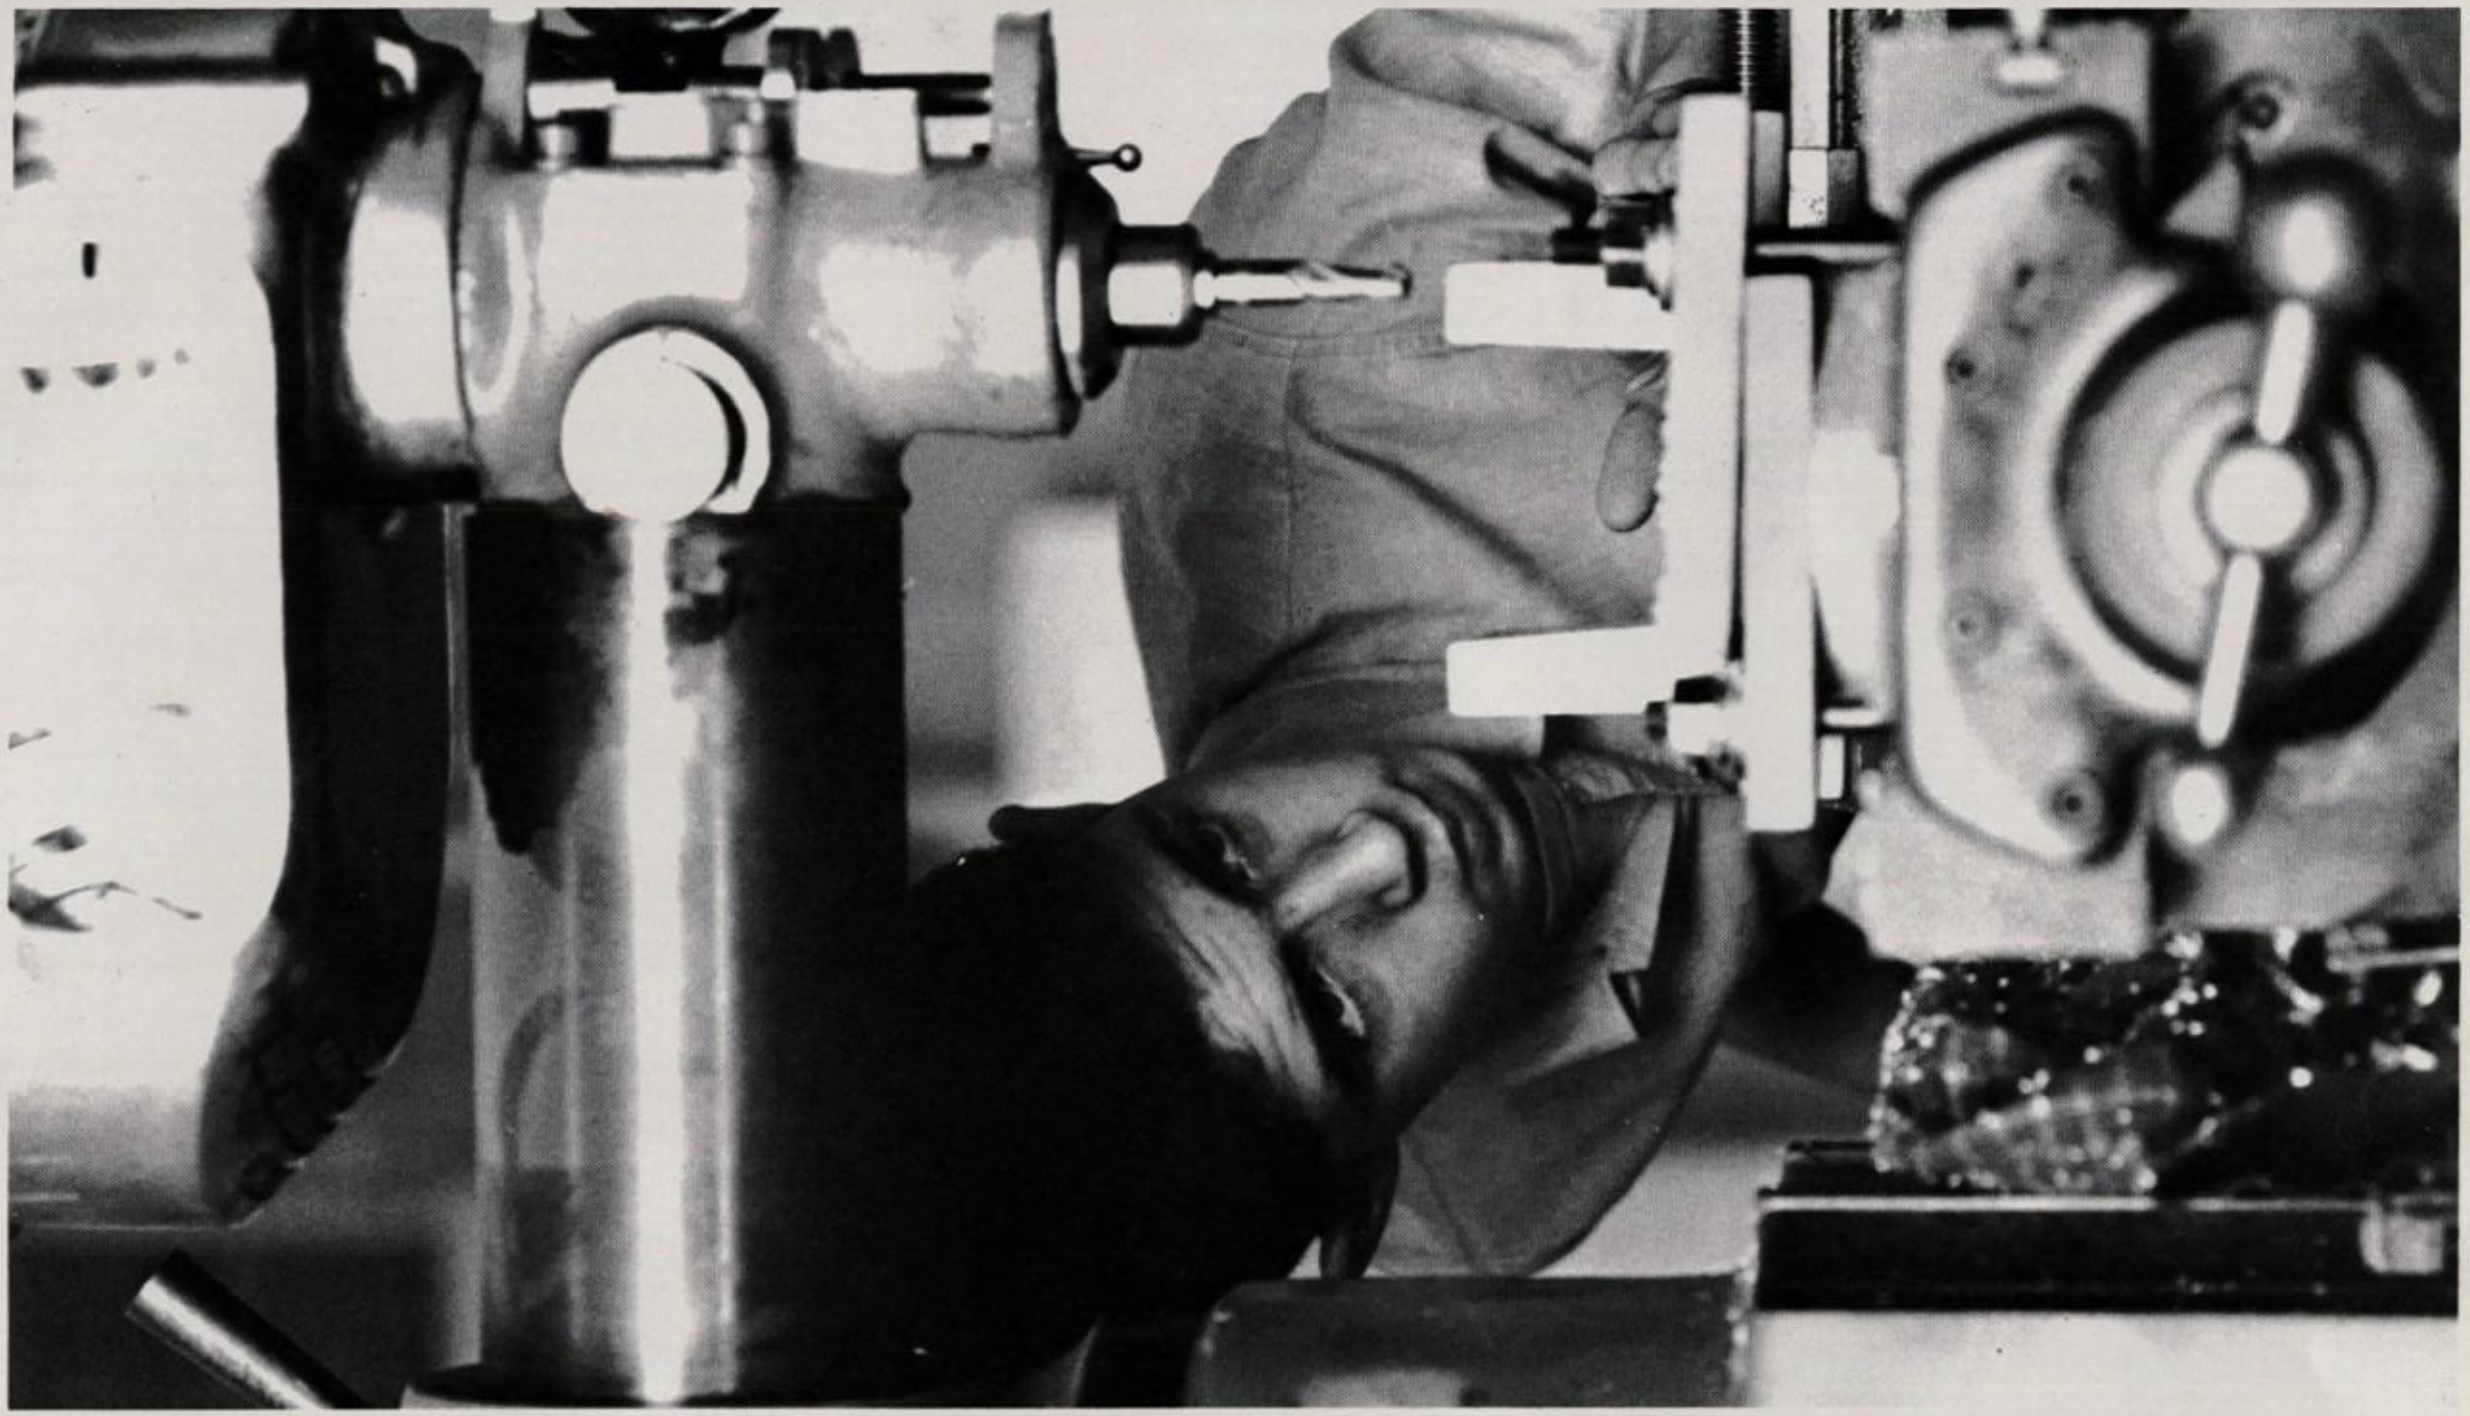
To adequately express one's thoughts

On paper or in rhetoric.

Above these is the satisfaction

Of achievement.





Moment of Gratitude . . .

These years spent in school have provided indelible moments:

From meeting new friends, from social and recreational activities,

But mostly from the time spent in the classroom.

The value of this time depended on the instructors.

Being grateful to our outstanding faculty

We take this moment to honor one individually.

He is recognized beyond our school, but he is devoted to it.

For himself he is humble, yet he holds a deep pride for his students.

His classes are a sharing, rather than a demonstration, of knowledge.

Impersonal and abstract material

Is brought within reach of the willing student.

He realizes our potential and develops our minds to peak capacity

Without causing frustration or discouragement.

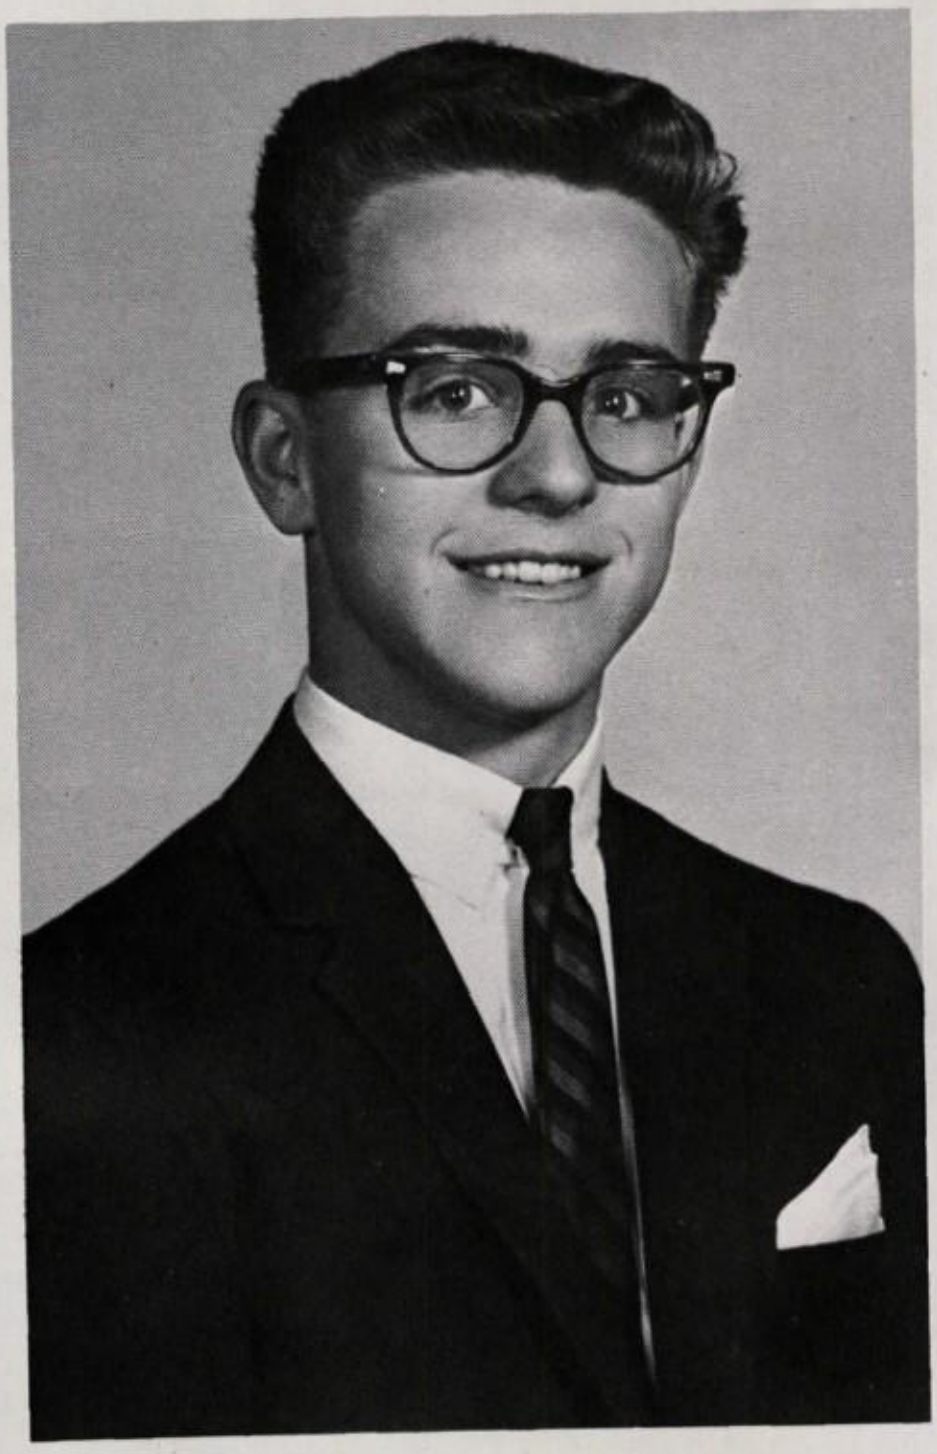
For these he is respected and admired.

For his dedication we dedicate our thoughts, our hopes,

Our Book.

JOHN C. PETERSON

Moment of Grief . . .



Let no man turn asunder
What the value of life brings;
For life is a sum of total goals,
Of countless splendid things.

The finite quality of life
Upon the shore of time
Is resolved in bitter tenderness;
For shortness is its crime.

To turn the situation of
Existence into grief
Is reaction to the age old law
That life is all too brief.

Let no man now upon this earth
Waste one second here;
For this is a chance aware to man
That's been ten thousand years.

The thing that holds the fabric of
A human life's endeavor,
Is a thing admired, a goal transpired
To be remembered ever.

Senior Class

With the culmination of our Senior year we leave the halls of Harb enriched with the knowledge, friendship, and maturity that will reward us with a bountiful future. Our year was hi-lighted with the passing events of homecoming, the Senior play, wrapping paper sales, Jerry's tea, the Senior banquet, and graduation night.

Moments of Enlightenment

Experienced Directors

The group of men conducting the schools business and policy is a group of community leaders who desire the highest quality of education attainable for each student. The decisions of the School Board, under the direction of Mr. Book, are monumental to the development of Harbor Creek's youth.

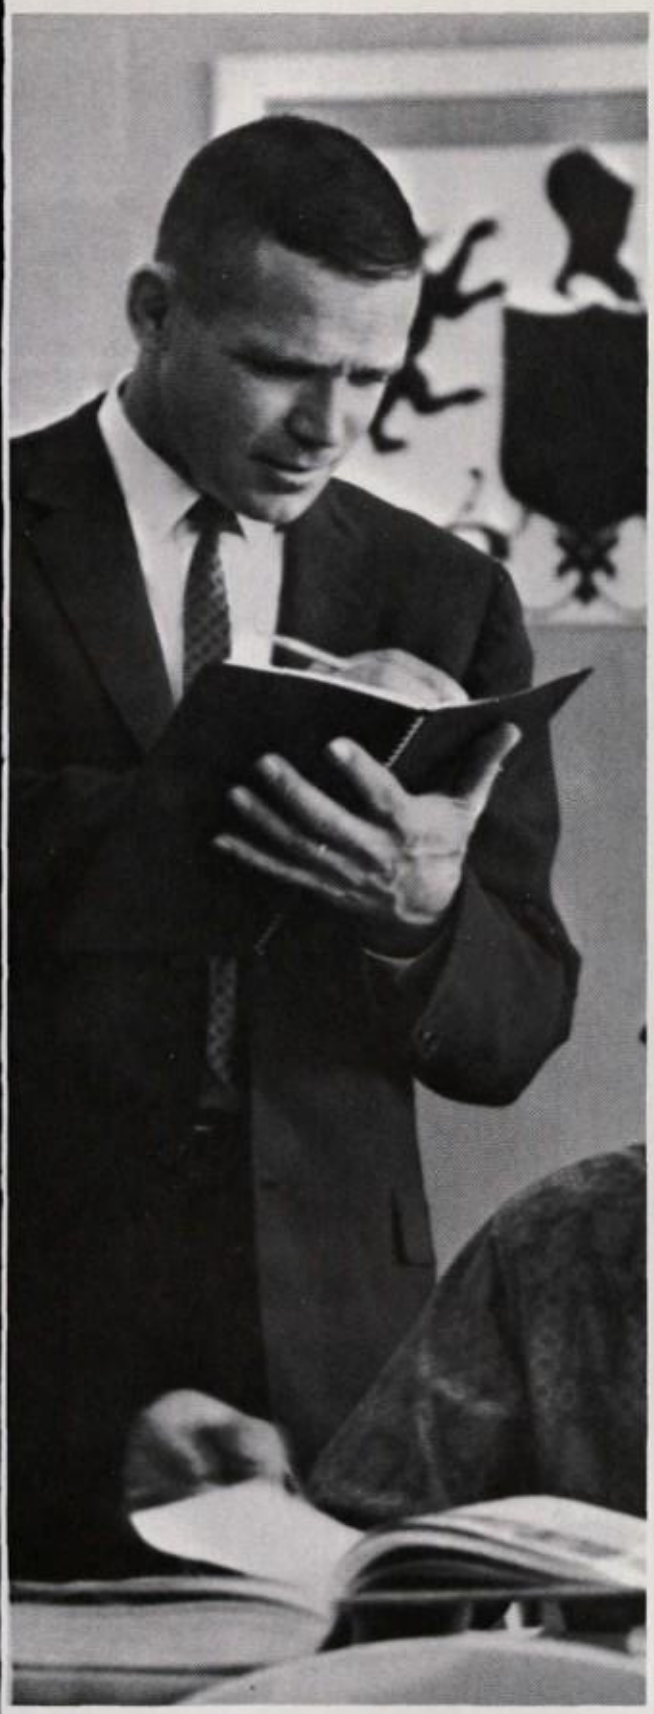
Kitchen Connoisseurs

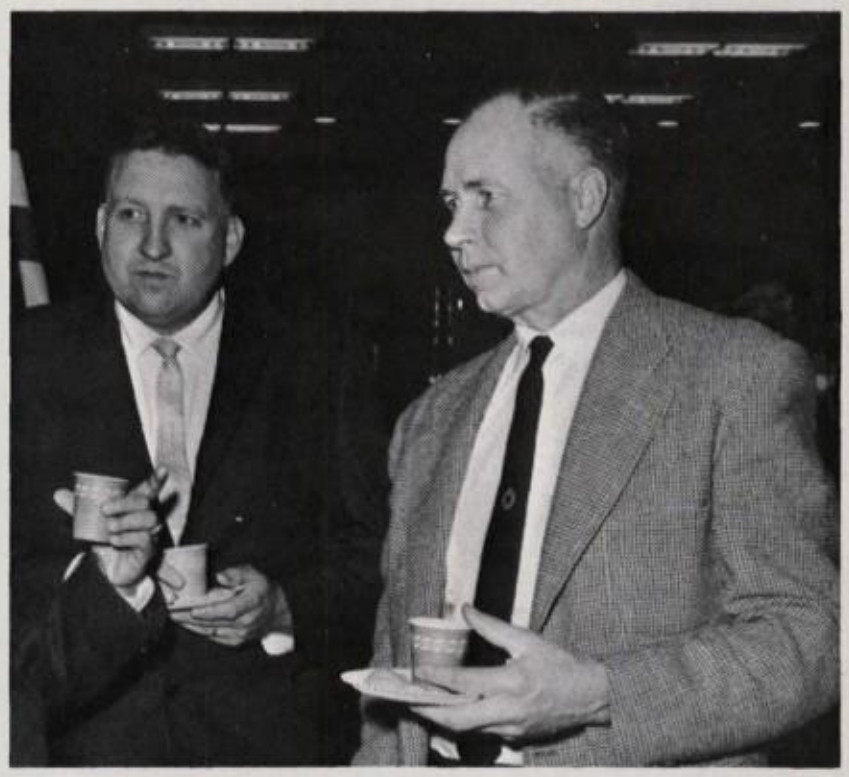
The old adage "Too many cooks spoil the broth" certainly does not apply to the culinary masters of our school. Continuously they prepare delicious dishes to tease our palates.

Dexterous Dusters

If there is any one reason for the shimmer and sparkle of our school, the custodians are it. These men can forever be seen, sweeping and cleaning, polishing and wiping, keeping our school running well. We are eternally grateful to these never-tiring men who continually clean up after us.

"These starfish are stopping up my drain."



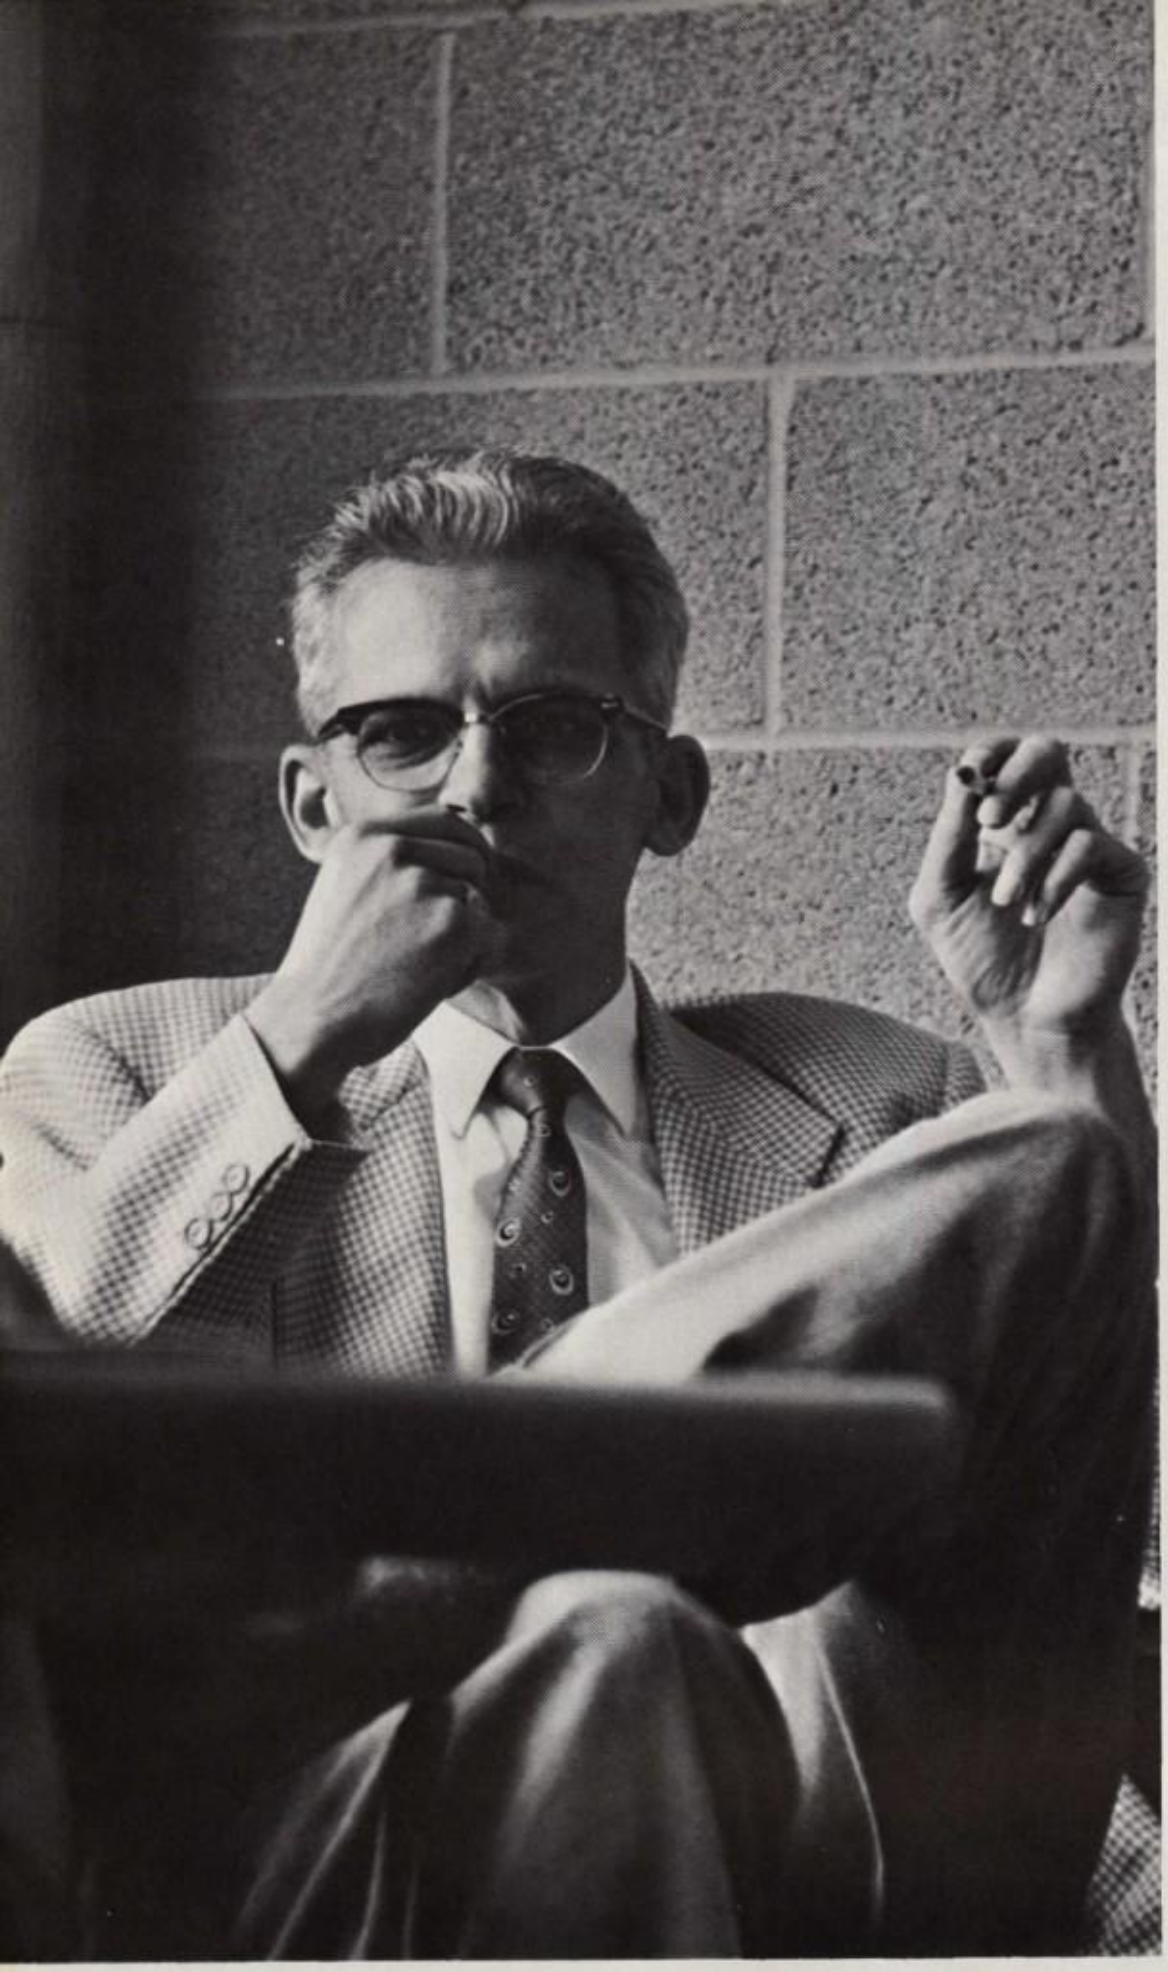


Sternness tempered with patience and understanding . . .

The insecure student teacher as he faces his first class

Boisterous bus excursions and bellowing voices at football season . . .

The last minute rush of six-weeks tests and report cards



Explaining to parents at Open House the problems of grading . . .

Contagious love for learning

That free period in the teachers' room . . .

A cup of coffee, a red pencil and long hours over themes

Fulfilling our inquisitive minds . . .

Junior Class

Eager and vibrant with energy is an accurate description of this year's Junior Class. With enthusiasm and diligence they have worked for their class, increasing their treasury with every project. Money raising projects included an after-game dance during football season and an Easter candy sale. The profits were used to host the Seniors at the Prom, and the remainder saved for their own rewarding senior year.

Now the school is the center of their activities

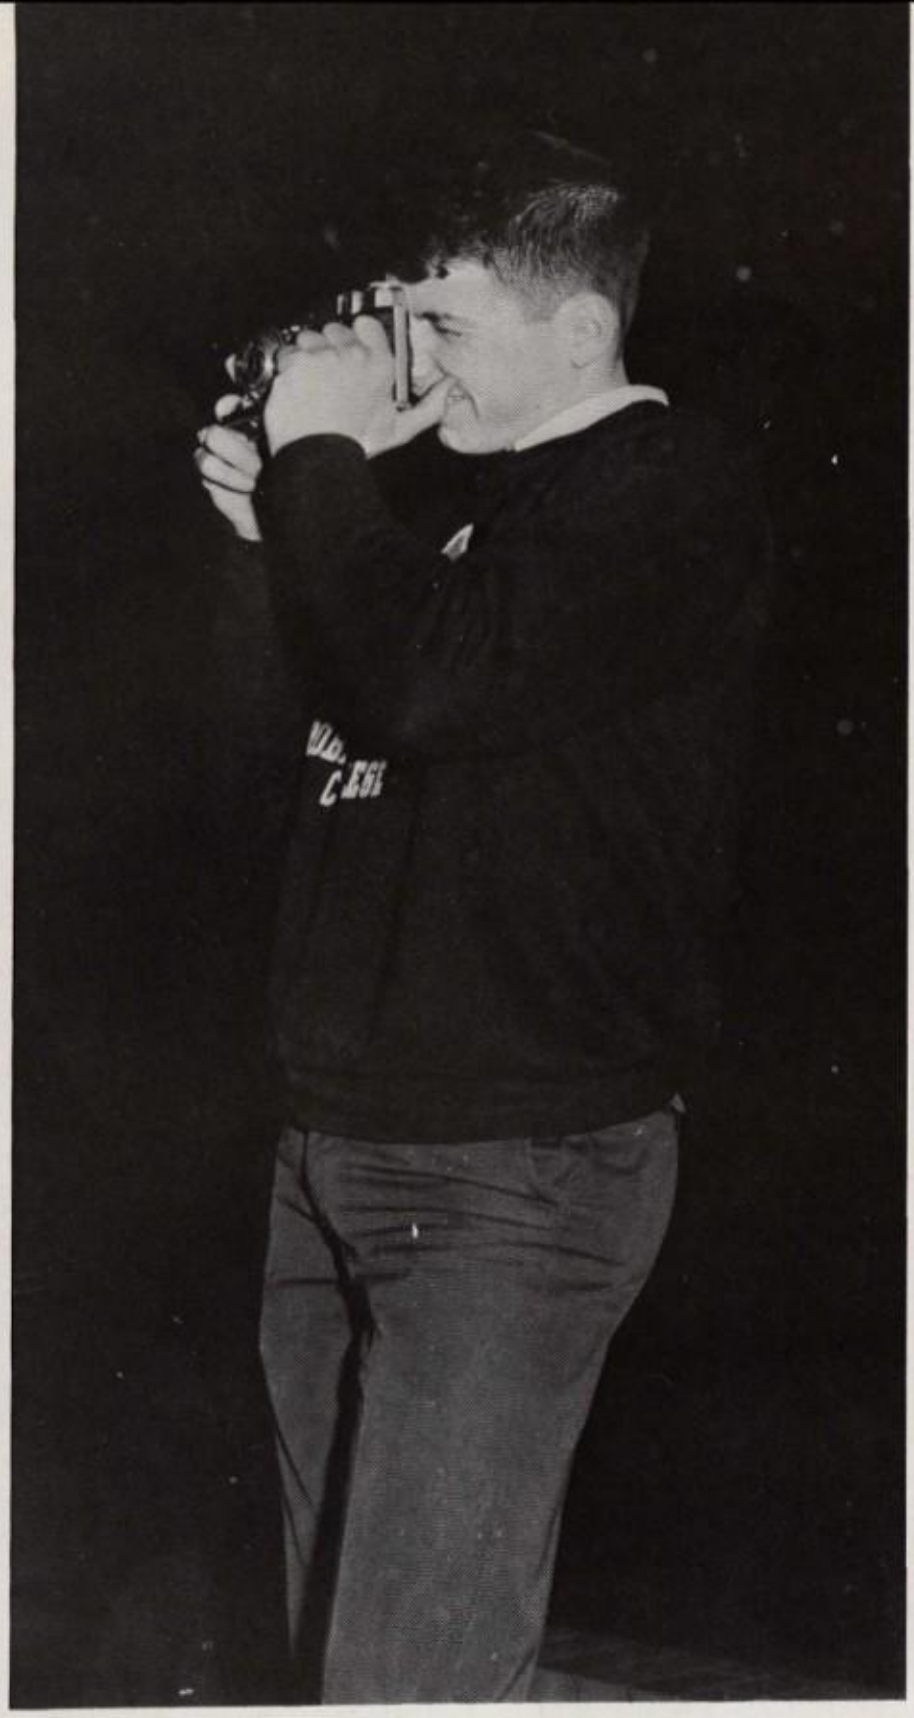
The peak of school spirit

So many new friends . . .

First romance . . .

At times sombre and at times exuberant

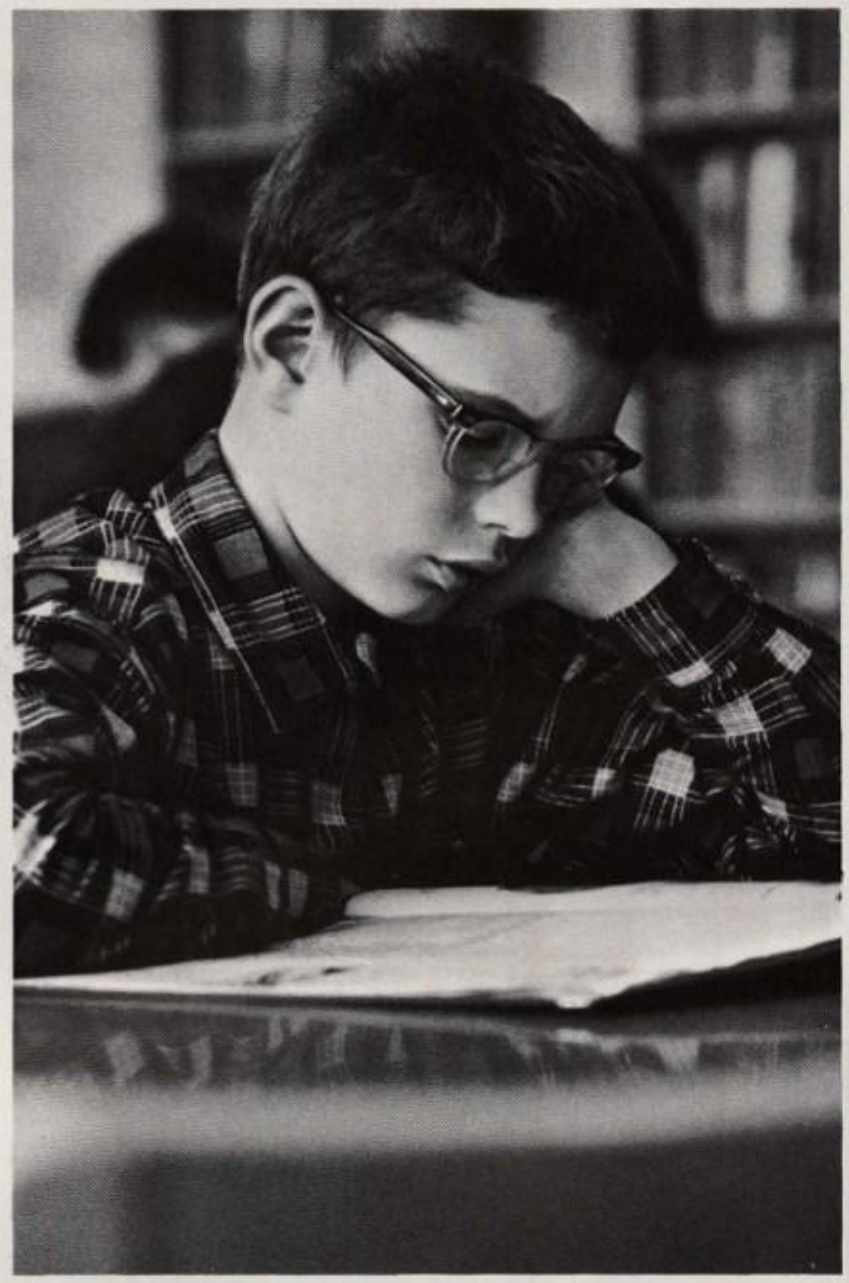
Awed at the complexity of school life



Notes and gossip on party plans . . .

Such noisy, crowded halls . . .

At first they seemed so small, now they belong with us



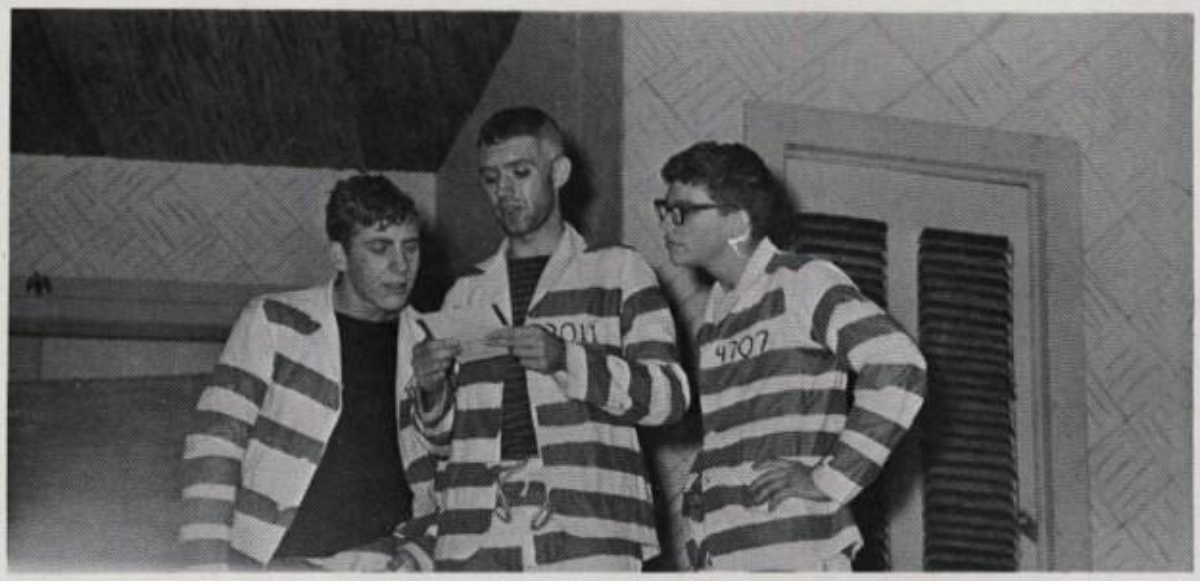
Moments of Relaxation

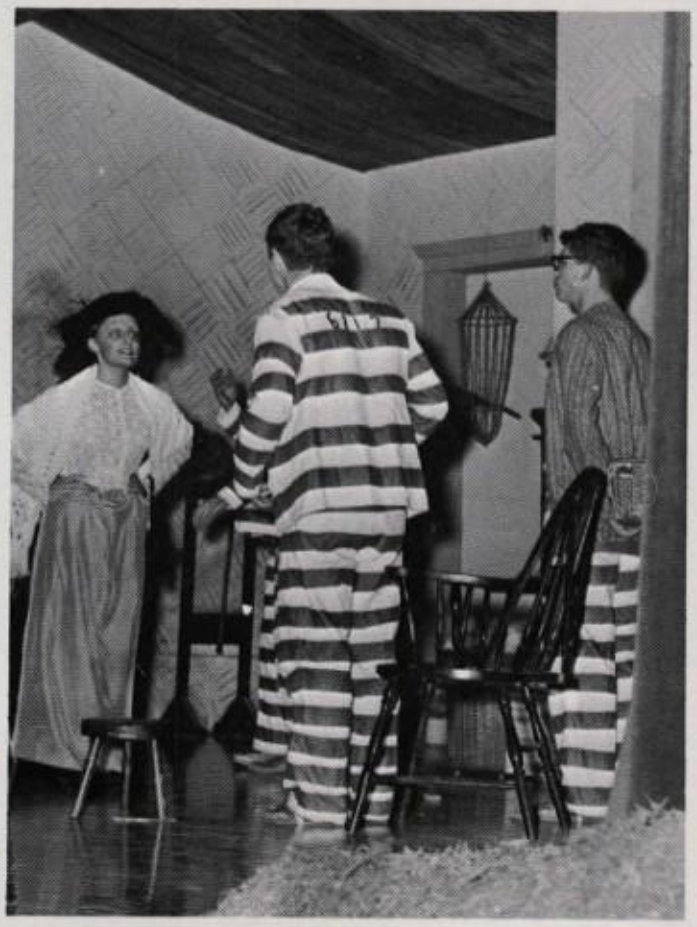
An excited audience hesitated and caught its breath as five radiant girls stepped from their convertibles to the platform. A tense moment was followed by the announcement of 1963's Homecoming Queen—Janet Rose. The beautiful ceremony honoring the queen and her court; Linda Holden, Brenda Morrison, Pat Wolfgong, and Pam Gest, made homecoming a special night for all who attended.

Alumni Reception

Quinton Boroi, football captain, plunges through the hoop with pre-game entertainment. Later Mr. Sam Uber was recognized as the oldest alumnus present. A dance honoring the queen and her court climaxed the evening's events.

Moments after the curtain was raised, our boys effectively took on the personalities of Jules, Joseph and Alfred.

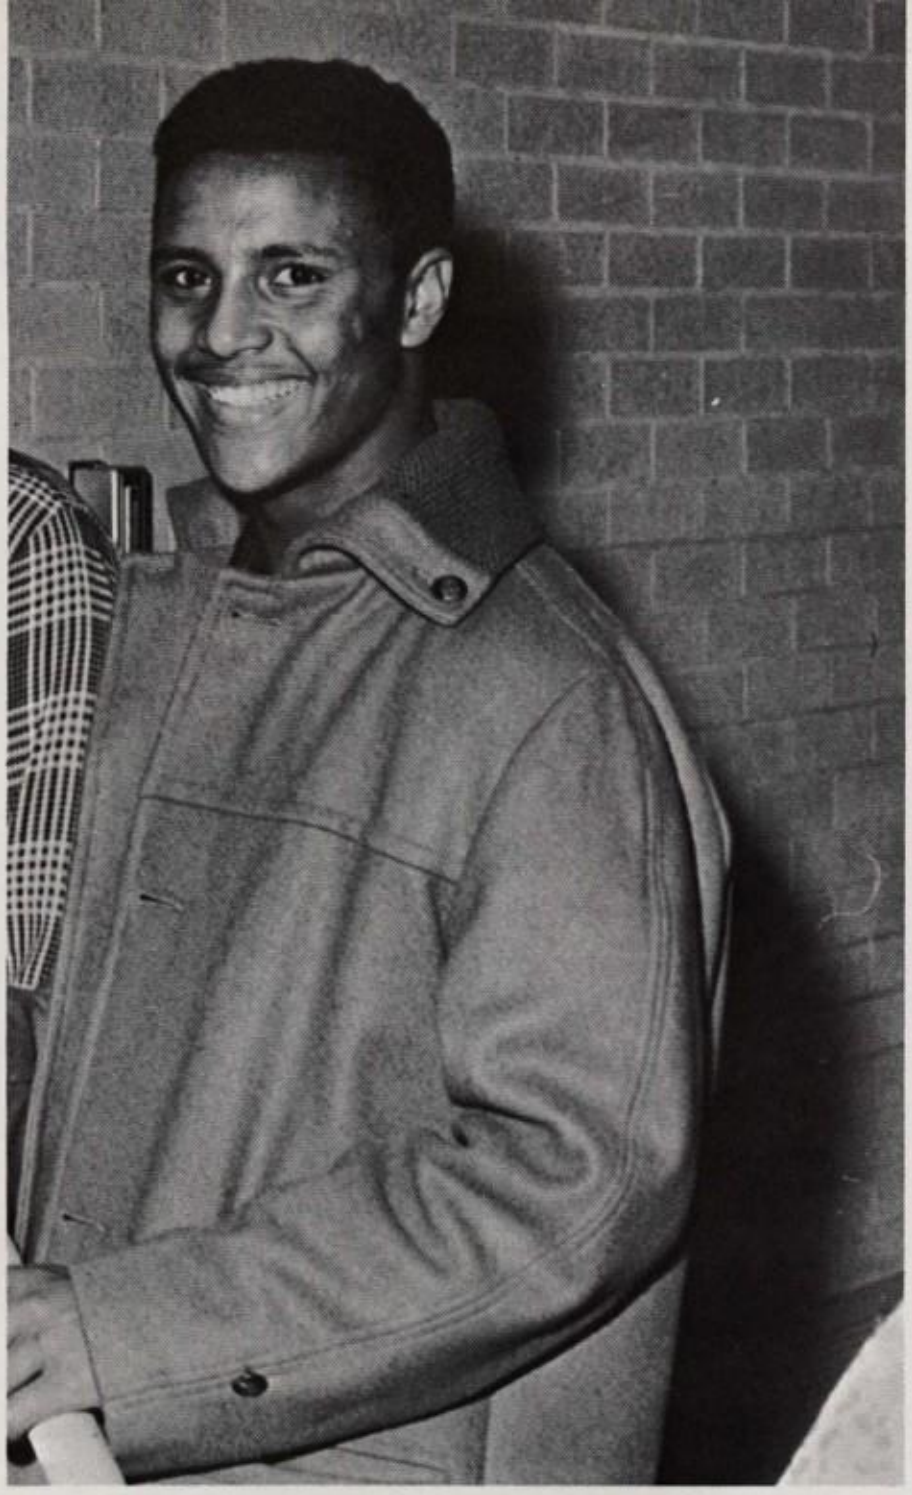




"My Three Angels"

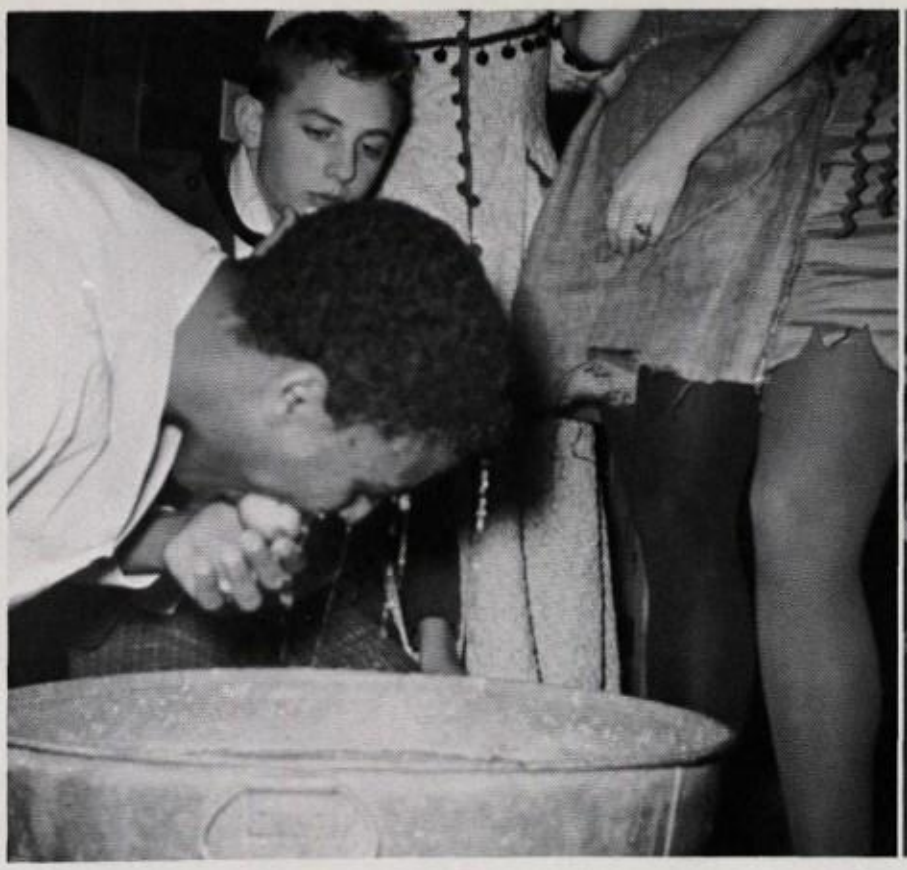
A general store in Cayenne, French Guiana during the early 1900's established the setting for the Senior Class Play. A delighted audience assured the cast of a success with their first performance, and they were asked to give another. Directing the light comedy were Mr. McCabe and student directors, Janice Ohmer and Patti Waterhouse. Mr. Rhodes led a large group of students with effective technical assistance for the production.

Making their dramatic debut as the Three Angels were Ivan Bissel, Bill Frazier and Don Partch. Other leading comedians were Kathy Kubaney as the infatuated Marie Louise Ducotel and her parents Emily and Felix, depicted by Beth Evans and Leroy Learn. Dennis Hoover appeared as a misguided fiancé with Don Hammond as his overbearing Uncle Henri. Judy Cook was an effective Mme. Parole, the scatterbrained customer, and Dave Gearhart portrayed the Lieutenant.



Our Foreign Friend

Last fall an Ethiopian won his way into our hearts. Our class, our community, our country has been enriched by his understanding, humor, and sensitivity. He has shared our ecstasies, our disappointments as only one of us could. It was truly a rewarding experience.



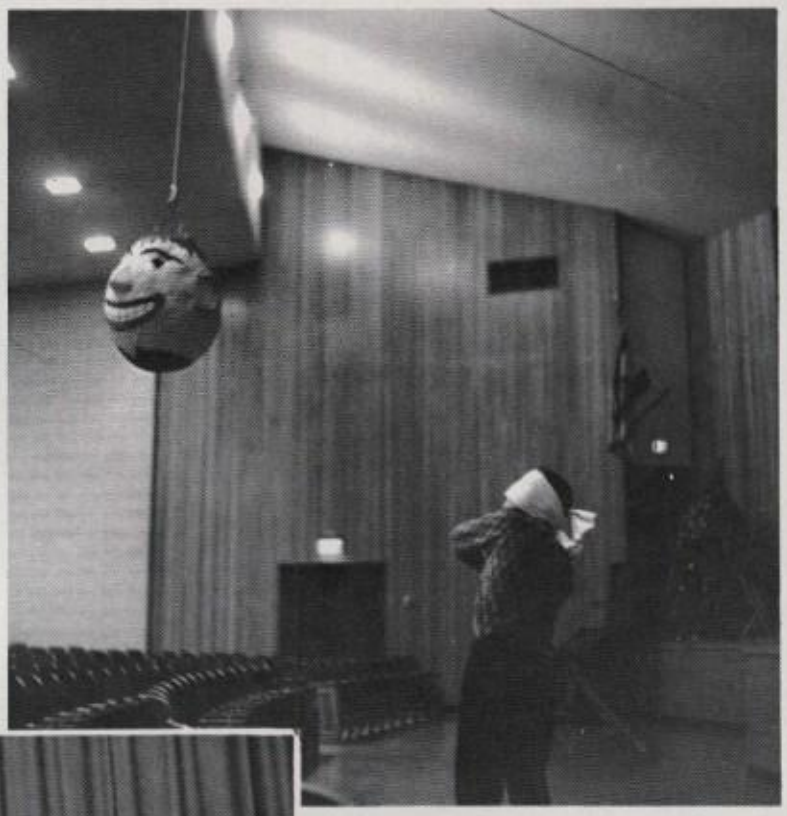
Jarso Mulugeta, our Jerry, was honored at various events and gatherings. The seniors first welcomed him with a tea; later many smaller gatherings hosted the congenial representative.

Young Ambassador

Our school was proud to send one of its students to Europe under the American Field Service Program. Cliff Hogue was chosen to go to Valencia, Spain, where he became a member of Señor Carlos Garcia Gisbert's family of eight. The Spanish way became his, and he brought it back so that we might benefit, thus becoming better neighbors. Throughout the year he gave descriptive talks and showed colorful slides to interested groups.

Edifying Assemblies

Everyone was enriched by the Honor Assemblies, Christmas Show, educational demonstrations, and other programs of the past year. The assembly has become the symbol of the ultra-dimension that makes education so effective and enjoyable. It is the means to guidance, recognition, and entertainment that the classroom cannot give. Without assemblies, Harbor Creek would be without a key to the student's mind.



Informal Report

Parents met faculty in informal discussion of their children's progress. Hosted by the Russian Club and guided by the Student Council, they also viewed the various displays and the beautiful school itself. The event was another way of forming a closer bond between parents and teachers.

The highlight of this special evening was the crowning of the King and Queen. Queen Brenda Bryner and King Jerry Cass were the reigning royalty of our Junior Prom. The royal couple was attended by Susan Batchelor, Shirley Berringer, John Dean, Donald Dougan, Patricia Hoover, Richard Mosher, Patricia Larson, Gordon Sonney, Doris Whaley, Robert Tuttle, Judith Wetzel, Anthony Wisinski.

"Arrivederci Roma"

A whirl of beautiful gowns swayed to the soft melodic strains of Vic Savelli's Band, while the fragrance of fresh flowers filled the Masonic Temple adding to the romance and pleasure of all who attended the 1963 Junior-Senior Prom, "Arrivederci Roma."

Darlene Soudan, Coronation Chairman, aids Quinton Boroi, class president and prom chairman, as he honors the King and Queen of the gala affair.

Dressing for the performance in crowded practice rooms . . .

Near-panic when faced with an audience.

Pizza, coke, potato chips . . .

Cherished crowns of many queens.

Varsity Football

Our fighting Huskie footballers had a disappointing season, winning but two games. After an opening game victory at Conneaut Valley, the Huskies had to wait until the next to the last game to eke out a thrilling 14—13 win over Meadville. Despite its poor won-lost record, the team presented its followers with some exciting thrills, highlighted by a heartbreaking 14—13 Homecoming loss to McDowell. Captain Quinton Boroi was our outstanding player who gave everything he had, which was plenty. Other senior stand-outs were Dan Casane, Joe Kobylinski, Don Johnson, Don Lonyo, Dan Lalli, and Bob Arpin. Faced with numerous injuries at the season's start, Coach Dennis and Assistant Foust did a commendable job with an inexperienced team.

In his first year as Junior Varsity Football Coach, Mr. Bannister did a credible job against stiff competition, posting one win, two ties, and five losses. The young Huskies were in each game until the final quarter, and with a few breaks could have fared much better. Quarterback Joel Magee, Halfbacks Cliff Church and Brian Johnson, linemen Bob Cass, Tracy Passerotti, Dan Bliley, Jim Space, Mike Brockway, Jim Carpenter, and Gary Kossack handled their positions admirably.

Junior High

Undefeated

Our Huskie Pups created quite a stir this year by going undefeated and scoring 116 points to their six opponents' 12. Captains Tom Dougan and Mike Peterseim, plus Herman Keys, Bernie Dombrowski, and Al Friend were standouts throughout the season. Other first-string performers who Coach Thomas and Assistant Vrenna could be proud of were Barry Lints, Ray Peck, Bob Ellwood, Bill A. and Bill J. Pepicello, and Dennis Macumber. The Junior High squad's successful season could be attributed to their tremendous desire and team effort. By winning each game handily, the first string got much relief from the 8th graders, which should make for a successful season again next year.

Varsity Basketball

The Huskies record was a disappointing 4 wins and 16 losses. The Huskies battled hard and lost some tough, close games. Injuries and the lack of a tall rebounder hampered the team's success.

James Erven lead the attack with 317 points, an average of 15.9 points per game, and 260 rebounds. Dave Whitten and Al Hellam followed with 152 and 138 points respectively. Bob Arpin's play making was also a bright light in Harb's attack. Jim Erven and Bob Arpin were selected to participate in the annual city-county all-star game.

Our Junior Varsity basketeers played commendable ball most of the past year under the tutelage of Robert Denniston. The team improved steadily throughout the season and most of the players should be able to help the varsity within the next two years. Soon to take positions are Joel Magee, Dick Adam, Jeff Schwetzer, and Tracy Passerotti. Others who were of help were Bill Hovis, Jim Hazen, Rodney Haynes, Lynn Hofius, Brian Johnson, Dick Mook, Cliff Church, Jack Cass, Everett Swift, and Jim McAnulty.

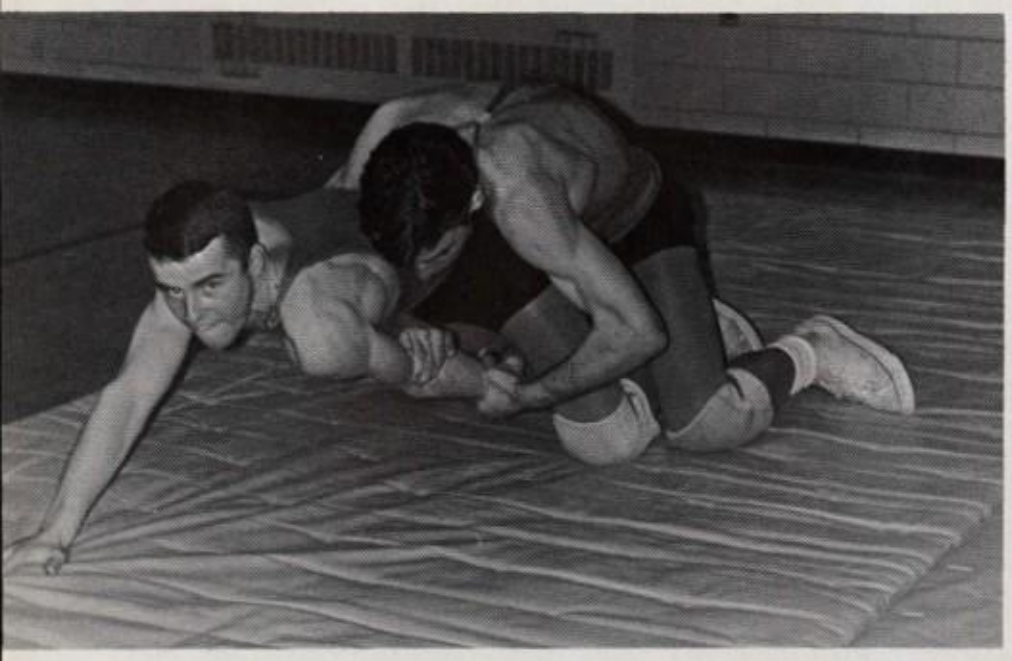
The Jr. High Basketball Squad completed a successful season under the direction of coaches Black and Klopfer, with a record of six victories and four losses. The purpose of the Jr. High program was to develop and train personnel for varsity competition. A total of twenty-seven boys were members and all had the opportunity to participate in game action. The boys who carried the heaviest part of the load were Dennis Dombrowski, Tom Dougan, Robert Elwood, Roger Kephart, Barry Lints, Duane May, Bruce Mitchell, Ray Peck, and Bob Schweitzer.



Wrestling

This year Harbor Creek completed its third season of interscholastic competition in wrestling. Our new wrestling coach, Dave Hannah, guided the Huskie Matmen to nine wins, four losses, and one tie for the best season in Harbor Creek's short wrestling history.

Art Amann, Don Uber, Bill Linn, Captain Rick Osiecki, Dan Southworth, Denny Hoover, John Liebel, Jim Sul, Jack Beamish, Bill Newcamp, Dick Kennedy, Jim Green, and Denny Perry were regular starters.

Jim Sul, the Huskies' outstanding wrestler, had a season record of 12 wins and one loss, and scored 59 team points. Jim was also the Section I Champ in the 145 lb. weight class.

Despite the loss of six lettermen this year, Coach Hannah is looking forward to an even stronger team next year.

Baseball

Graduation has depleted the ranks of returning lettermen for the 1964 baseball season, but coaches Foust and Warthman were still optimistic about the "diamond Huskies" chances for a successful season. Brothers Cliff and Clark Hogue, Denny Hoover and Bill Crumrine were the only returning lettermen, but the squad received big things from Mike Porvaznik, Bill Hoover, Jim McAnulty and Dale Swift. Biggest Huskie task is to replace departed George Hoover's .357 batting average and four mound wins. Cliff Hogue and Bill Crumrine will anchor the mound staff while Denny Hoover and Mike Porvaznik are expected to lead the "hit parade." Last Year's highlights included double victories over McDowell and Academy and wins over Memorial Tech and county champ, Fort LeBoeuf.

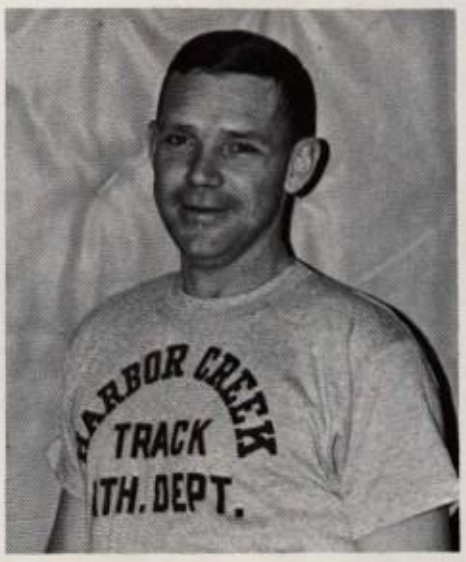
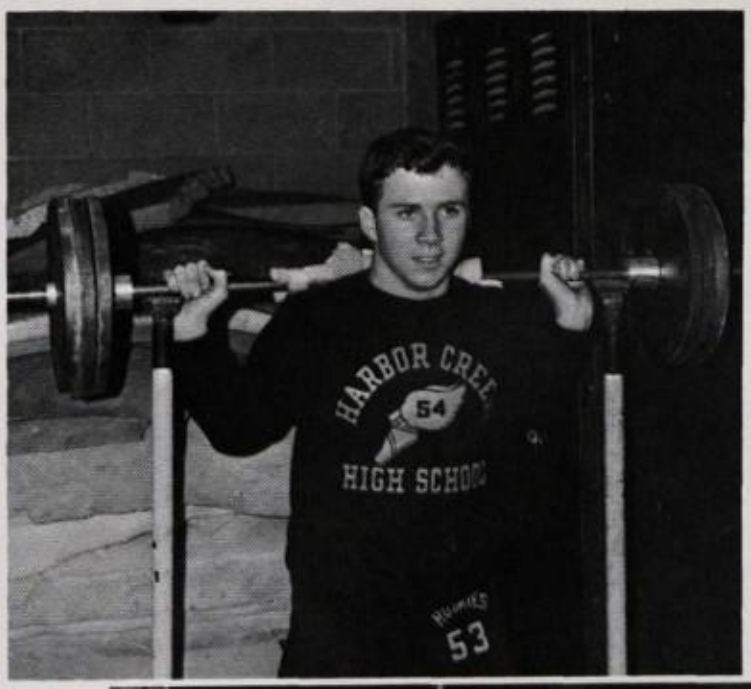
Coaches
Thomas and Bannister





With but 32 members, our 1963 Track Team did not fair well against the tough city competition. However, in his first year as head coach, Mr. Thomas could show pride as Bill DeDioniseo became Harb's first District champion (discus) in three years and Ron Tomlin broke the school's 180 low hurdles record (22.2). With the advent of the Intramural Track meet, the acquisition of new uniforms and weight training equipment, the renovating of the Track, and the hiring of a new coach, Mr. Stroup, to assist Mr. Thomas and Mr. Bannister, Harbor Creek's Track future seemed brighter for 1964. Cliff and Denny Cass, Bob Arpin and 9th grader, Barry Lints, formed a nucleus around which the team started on its campaign to raise Harbor Creek into a Track Power.

Cross-Country

Harbor Creek fielded its first Cross-Country team this year ably coached by Mr. P. Rose. Although the boys didn't win any dual meets, they got some valuable experience which will be helpful next year. Bill McAchren and Denny Cass were the outstanding runners on the team. With a bigger turnout next year our Huskie Harriers should be able to make Cross-Country sport beneficial to other Harb sports, especially Track, for its development of endurance and running speed.

The enthusiasm and concern of Miss Mershon in the Girls' Athletic Association during the past year were immeasurable. She provided the members with the incentive that rewarded them an undefeated record during the soccer and basketball season, while creating sportsmanship and providing the body with the exercise necessary for a healthful being.

Moments of Self-Expression

Expressions in Sound

Every day during the football season the members of the band could be seen perfecting their unique musical arrangements and marching routines. Under the excellent supervision of Mr. Cerutti, the Harbor Creek High School marching band was acclaimed the best in the city and county area. Besides highlighting the half-time shows, they performed at assemblies and concerts throughout the year. Outstanding of these was the Parent's Concert, Combined Concert, Faculty Show, and Spring Concert.

Mr. Cerutti, director; Linda Holden, accompanist; Jeanne Hintenach, Pres.; Darlene Soudan, V. Pres.; Marlene Slencsak, Sec.-Treas.; Virginia Bork, Sharon Klins, Gail Gross, Sect. Leaders; Nancy Sieber, Sect. Leader and District Chorus Rep.; and Carolyn Carr, District Chorus Rep.

Our ever expanding choral program has risen to an even higher peak of excellence this past year. Under the understanding guidance of Mr. Cerutti, many worthwhile programs were presented before the public and our student body.

Developing Talent

Junior Band this year was an exceptionally large group of promising musicians. This potential Senior Band studied enthusiastically the techniques demonstrated by Mr. Cerutti. The rewards were the personal satisfaction and pride of performing in concert.

The Junior High choral program has expanded until this year there was a need for three separate groups. The Seventh and Eighth Grade Chorus, the Glee Club and the Ninth Grade Chorus worked under the direction of Mrs. Alexander, learning to control their voices and sing in group harmony. They displayed their acquired skill for assemblies, and are the potential vocalists for the Senior Chorus.

Stepping Splendor

The precise and complex routines of Mrs. Arnold's unique Cadets and Twirlers made all of us feel just a little prouder during the pigskin season. The half-time shows were not the only performances with which our Cadets and Twirlers were concerned. They participated in a Christmas program at the Soldiers and Sailors Home that helped to brighten the holiday season for these elderly men. The pert and pretty lassies have become a Harbor Creek trademark.

Surge of Enthusiasm

We are proud of this group that stood for our school. With vibrant display of school spirit, they commanded the student body in unison chants. Esteemed Scholars

Election to the National Honor Society is the most coveted honor a student may receive. This organization recognizes those who have strived to improve themselves, their school, and their community through hard, earnest work. Those who attained this honor possess the qualities of Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service. Officers for 1963-64 were Pres., Cliff Hogue; V. Pres., Belva Wagner; Sec., Marilyn Woodward; and Treas., Linda Holden.

The Student Council, under this year's elected president, Kathy Kubaney, sought to express the student's voice to the administration. One of their newly incorporated programs was the Citizenship Award, presented each six-weeks period to an outstanding boy and girl who worked for the benefit of their school and class. Once again these student representatives supported the American Field Service program.

Model Democracy

Refutation Research

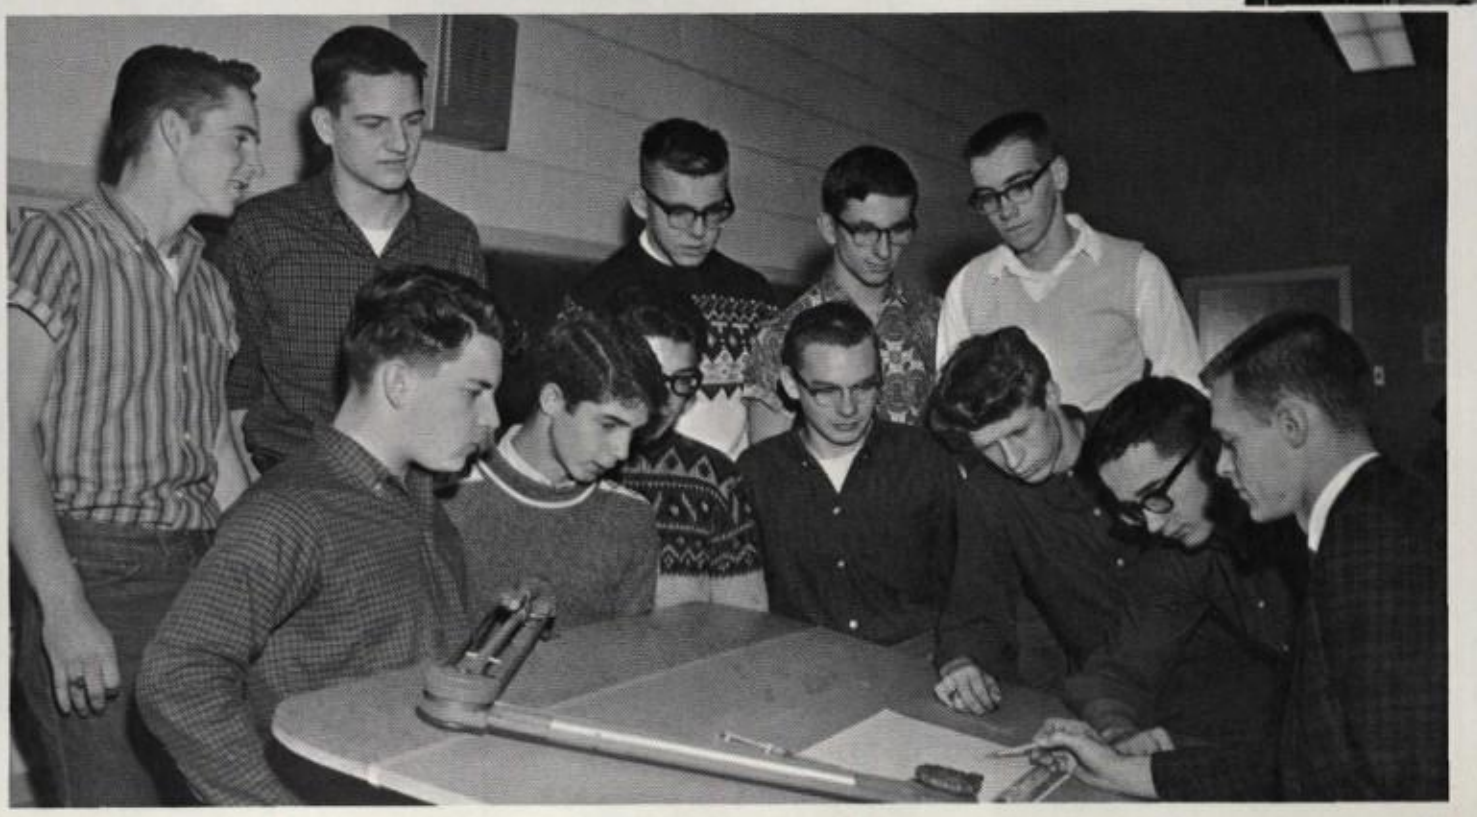
"Resolved; That social security benefits should be extended to include complete medical care." This was the topic upon which this year's debate groups originated, prepared, and delivered effective speeches. The respective advisors, Mr. Rose and Mrs. Hulings, induced clear thinking and sound logic with speaking techniques to each debate member. Their aim was to give the student more confidence in his speaking, enabling him to successfully defend his beliefs.

Dramatic Debut

The Dramatics Club is a group of students desiring to develop their skills in the acting and producing arts. With guidance and instruction of their capable advisor, Mr. McCabe, the members became proficient at stage settings, appropriate make-up techniques, and the basics of acting.

T-Squares

Laboring over oblique boards these analytical artists strove to produce the blue prints that make for efficiency in our modern era. Mr. Van Slyke provided these young draftsmen with the incentive that in future years enables them to further perfect and advance the foundation of industry.



Developing Diplomacy . . .

Promoting international understanding and interest among the youth of the world is the purpose each member of the International Club endeavors to follow, hoping to spread knowledge and good will to the many peoples of the world. The chief project this year was "World Tape Pals," the exchange of tape-recordings containing vocal descriptions of our typical American high school and its activities.

KÖNNEN SIE DEUTSCH SPrECHEN?

For a member of the German Club the obvious reply is—Ja! This year, as in other years, the members of the German Club have endeavored to further their knowledge of the Teutonic people through the study of the language and customs. The knowledge that they acquired gave them a valuable insight into the origins of our own American heritage.

Сердце Рóссии дух нарóда

The Russian Club devotes its time and activities to the comprehension of contemporary Russian cultures through the study of the language, history and customs of the Russian People. It is our belief that knowledge rather than negligent concern, establishes and maintains the relationships necessary for world peace.

Affection for the Afflicted

Miss Wills and her hard working volunteers completed the year with an admirable list of compassionate deeds to their honor. The Red Cross Club brightened many lonely days for the unfortunates of Erie.

Cult of Chroniclers

The members of the Junior Historians Club are proud of their heritage, and have expressed it by exploring and studying the history of our area.

Portal to Knowledge . . .

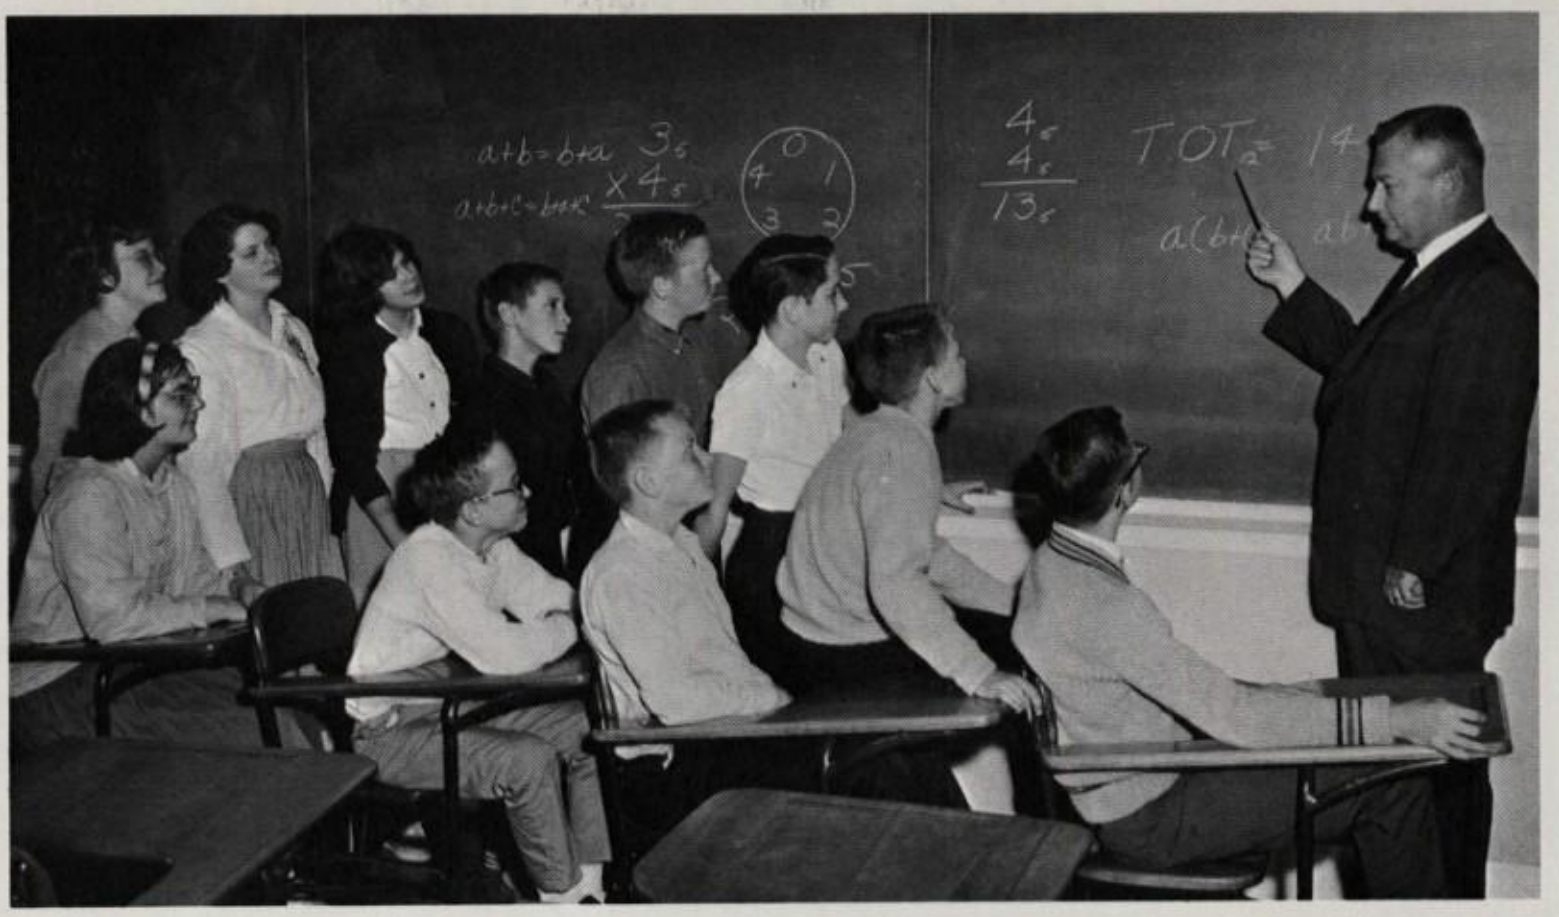
Library Assistants, Library Club and Reading Club have combined their efforts this past year to form a functioning segment of our library. Their efficient management and maintenance have made it an inviting and attractive storehouse of knowledge.

Team That's on the Beam

The hum of electronic equipment is like a second pulse to the boys in the Electronics Club. They worked hard this year preparing a scoreboard for our football field. Mr. Sherwood, the club's advisor, taught the boys many intricacies of electronics.

Modern Alchemists

Those of the Chemistry Club could become absorbed in any phenomena of physics or chemistry. The club periods were spent in individual experimentation or with demonstrations from their advisor Mr. Peterson.



The Whiz Kids . . .

Theories and postulates were just a few of the things that sent these kids into ecstasies of delight. Mr. Warthman stimulated the members of the Jr. High Math Club into corners of calculations which most of us never thought of.

Observation Makes for Learning

Under the diligent leadership of Miss Guckes, the members of the newly organized Junior High Science Club were provided with the incentive which encourages them towards advanced science. By study, research, and experimentation, they constantly expanded their knowledge of the sciences.

Their Heads in the Clouds . . .

A new club was added to our extracurricular program this year, one that rapidly grew in popularity. Meetings were highlighted by shop talk and the roar of engines.

The main project of the Model Airplane Club was the building of a radio-controlled plane, which the club members flew themselves and sold at the end of the year. In addition to this group project, kits were built by individual members throughout the year.

Monetary Quest . . .

Perhaps this group knew the value of a penny and could get more excited over one than any group in the school. In hopes of finding the rare date, hours were spent inspecting rolls and piles of coins. Each activity period they brought their findings to trade with their fellow Coin Club enthusiasts.

Masters of Strategy . . .

The assault of a castle, execution of a queen, or the capture of dozens of foot soldiers were all in a day's work to the members of the Chess Club. On club days they could always be found with Mr. Thomas, their advisor, plotting their treachery.

Our Reel Helpers

After learning how to operate the audio-visual equipment, the members of the Projection Club give of their study hall time that classes may benefit from films. Facts are given a new depth, and knowledge is brought closer to the student.

They Light the Way . . .

Without this group's initiative and labor the Senior Play, Faculty Show, and other programs would not have had the essential atmosphere and technical properties. A debt of gratitude is owed by us all to the hard-working, enthusiastic members of the stage crew who, along with Mr. Rhodes, performed every undertaking with excellence.

Call of the Wild . . .

Mr. Dennis has instilled the sportsman's blood in the Outdoorsmen Club's participants. The club sponsored a dance, a turkey shoot and other activities so it could promote the traditions of fair play and sportsman-like conduct.

Symbol of Honor . . .

Certainly the boys of the Varsity Club deserved the tribute, their jackets, for their outstanding devotion and performance in our athletic program.

Jalopy Jockies . . .

The throb of a well-turned "mill" or the click of a "wild cam" never failed to bring these boys running, not excluding their advisor Mr. Rhodes. The Automotive Club was primarily interested in furthering the automotive sport and its safe perseverance.

Health, Loyalty, Sportsmanship . . .

These devotees of physical fitness could always be found where anything needed participants. Each activity period the group of spirited girls strived towards perfecting their skills in the various sports. Working with them was their new advisor, Miss Mershon, who participated with the girls and shared their vibrant enthusiasm.

Potential Educators

Inspiring our students toward the teaching profession was the purpose and goal of the Future Teachers of America. Pizza party dance, bake sales, and car washes were projects in which all the members participated in order to be able to award scholarships to worthy senior members.

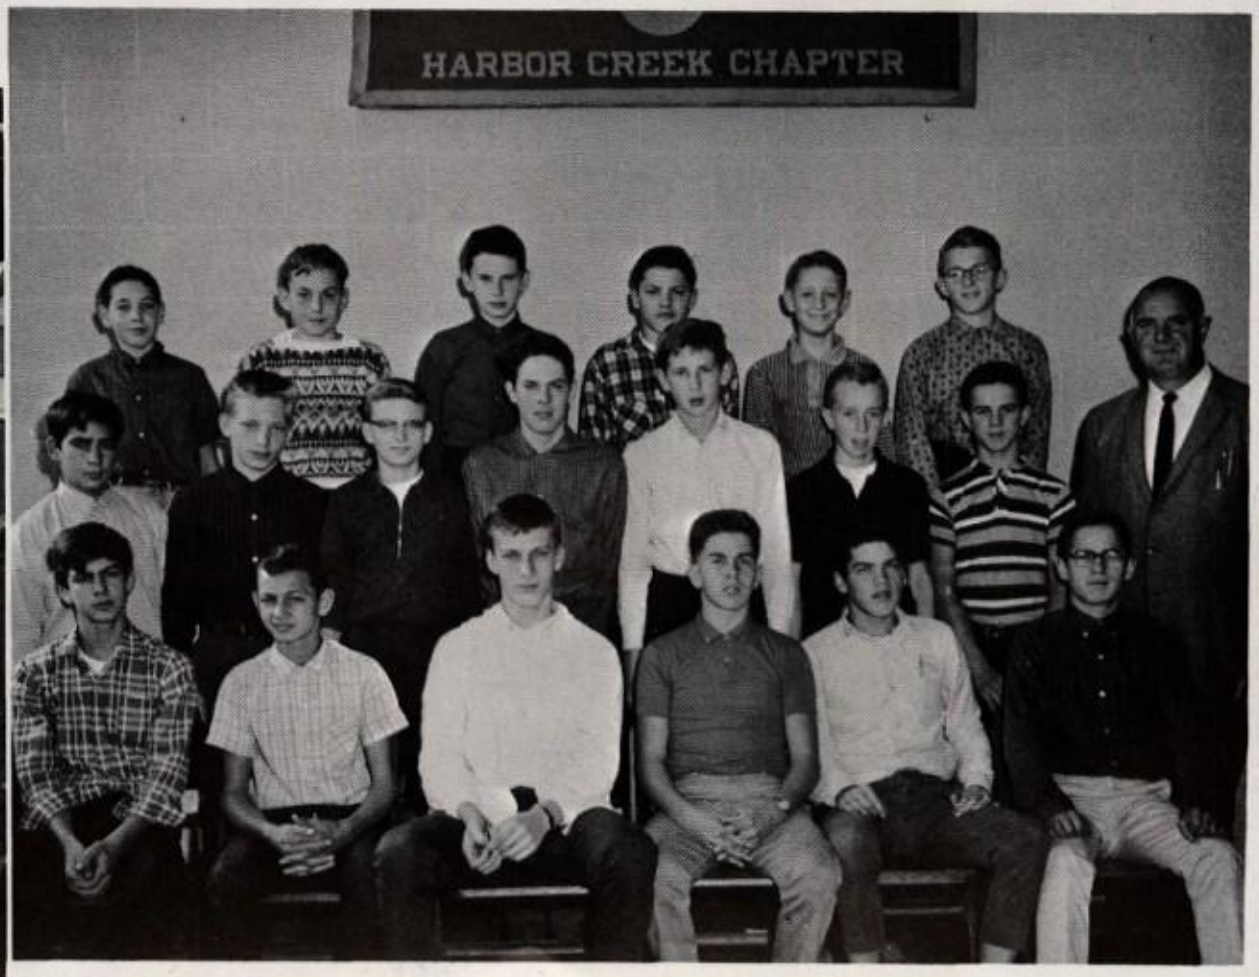
They Know Their Fields . . .

Again this year our boys could be found working in the vineyards. They also helped complete our landscape by planting attractive shrubs and trees.

In October the Future Farmers of America sent two representatives to the national convention in Kansas City. Members from across the nation assembled to learn new and varied farming methods. Through these efforts our Future Farmers prepared for their future occupations in the field of agriculture.

Junior High F.F.A.

Paint your cadillac green and you can pretend you have a John Deere.



Mix a Better Batter . . .

The Wednesday afternoon activity period found the members of the Future Homemakers of America learning the arts of cookery, sewing, and the management of a family. Their advisor, Mrs. Wolf, provided the young ladies with the domestic background necessary for their future homelife.

Meticulous Misses

No sound is more harmonious to this group than the whir of an electric typewriter. Lectures and field trips aided the girls of the Business Club as they strove to improve their efficiency and knowledge of basic business techniques.

For a More Purposeful Being . . .

Leadership, Citizenship and Service are traits common to all Y-Teens, who along with this world-wide organization have grown spiritually, mentally and physically. Each is striving to make herself a better young woman for today's modern world.

The Y-Teen officers for 1963-64 were: Darlene Soudan, President; Barbara Pannell, Vice-President; Marlene Slencsak, Secretary; Jeanne Hintenach, Treasurer; Linda Holden, Chaplain; Mary Koniecko, Program Chairman.

Service Unlimited . . .

A number of worthy projects high lighted the club's plans. Contributions were given toward a pitching machine for the baseball team, and donations were made for the football scoreboard fund.

The Senior Hi-Y broadened its scope of understanding by hearing various guest speakers, including professional athletes and service men.

Headlines and Deadlines . . .

Reporters, Writers, Typists—Each contributed every week this past year to produce an interesting and informative newspaper. Many hours were spent by Miss Schuetz and her staff who worked punctually toward their weekly goal, the Harbor Headlines.

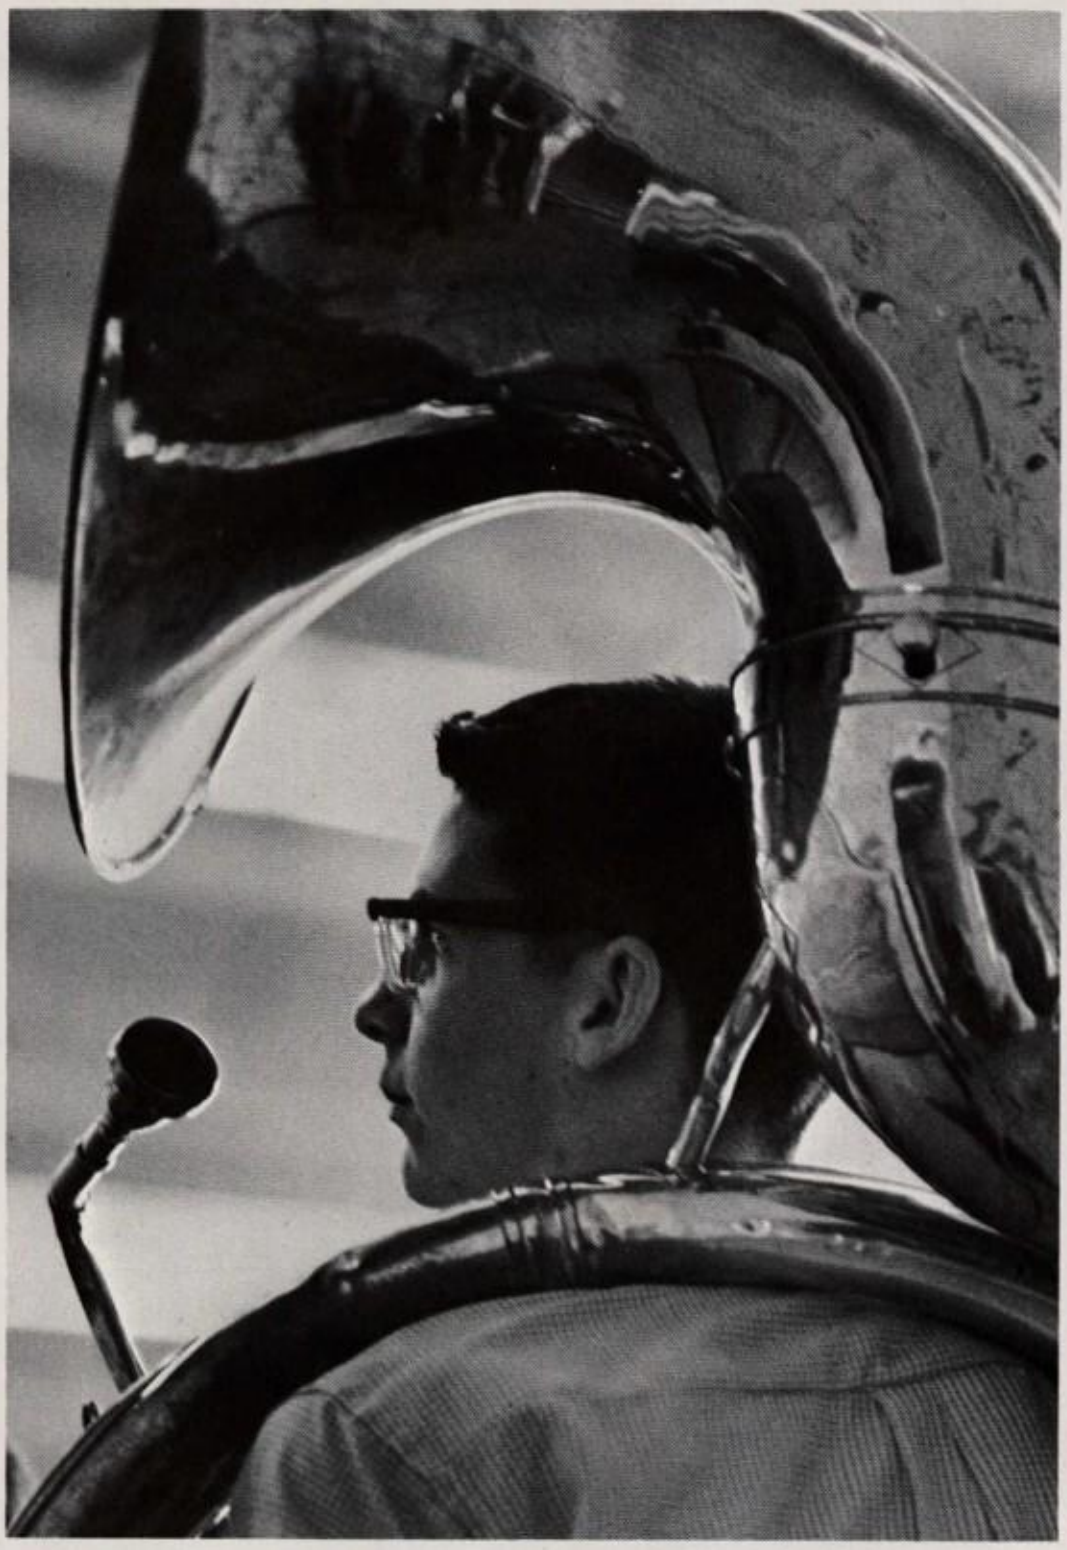
Preserved in Print

Quinton Boroi's Business Staff devised the budget and supervised distribution.

The HARBORIAN Staff created a yearbook with wider, more vivid dimensions than any before. A search for a new and interesting layout, the rhythmic clank of a typewriter, the soliciting of patrons, and the patience and understanding of our advisors all symbolized the many hours of work that made the 1964 HARBORIAN complete.

Copy was prepared by Marilyn Woodward and the Literary Staff.

Appealing layouts were planned by Belva Wagner's staff with the assistance of Mr. Thomas and Mr. Bannister.



An awareness of new and different atmospheres

Nervous moments before half-time

Watchful eye on the conductor

Shiny, slick chemistry aprons . . .

The wonder of discovery.

Wednesday's activity period

Hours after school . . .

The gym, yearbook room, basement track

The spirit of youth exposed,

Emotions released

Moments remembered the longest.
